The EAEP2201 exam is a challenging exam that requires extensive preparation and experience in GIS administration. It is a performance-based exam that evaluates an individual's ability to complete real-world tasks that are commonly performed by GIS administrators. EAEP2201 Exam is designed to assess an individual's knowledge and skills in a variety of areas, including installation and configuration of ArcGIS Enterprise, database management, troubleshooting and monitoring, and security and compliance.

Esri Enterprise Administration Professional 2201 Sample Questions (Q66-Q71):

NEW QUESTION # 66

An organization is considering deploying ArcGIS Enterprise. A needs assessment shows that all users need access to the following applications and capabilities:

- * ArcGIS Pro
- * ArcGIS StoryMaps
- * View, edit and create portal content items

Which user type should be assigned for these users?

- A. Editor
- B. GIS Professional
- C. Creator

Answer: B

Explanation:

To meet the listed requirements, the appropriate user type is GIS Professional. This user type includes:

- * Access to ArcGIS Pro (essential for desktop GIS work and analysis)
- * Full content management and sharing privileges in the portal
- * Use of premium apps like ArcGIS StoryMaps, Experience Builder, and others. The Creator user type provides access to web-based apps and content but does not include ArcGIS Pro without an additional add-on license. The Editor user type is limited to viewing and editing existing data and does not support app creation or use of ArcGIS Pro.

NEW QUESTION # 67

A GIS administrator is architecting a new ArcGIS Enterprise deployment. The organization has grown and evolved since the initial deployment. The organization is having difficulty meeting the existing Service Level Agreement.

Recently, the team rolled out a series of web tools that are used in various applications throughout the organization. In the existing deployment, users report poor performance when the web tools are used.

Which action should the GIS administrator perform?

- A. Dedicate an ArcGIS Server site for analysis to use workload separation
- B. Configure additional ArcGIS Server machines within the existing ArcGIS Server site
- C. Install an additional ArcGIS Enterprise deployment for analysis workflows

Answer: A

Explanation:

Workload separation is a best practice in ArcGIS Enterprise architecture. By dedicating a separate ArcGIS Server site for analysis tasks, such as geoprocessing services used in web tools, system resources can be managed more effectively, and performance can be improved. This configuration avoids overloading a single site and ensures that interactive web applications are not affected by resource-intensive analysis tools.

Adding more machines to the same site (Option A) does not isolate workloads and may still result in contention. Installing an entirely new ArcGIS Enterprise deployment (Option C) increases complexity and administration effort unnecessarily. The recommended solution is to implement a dedicated ArcGIS Server site for analysis as part of a federated multi-site deployment.

NEW QUESTION # 68

A client wants to perform incremental webgisdr backups daily and full backups weekly. They store all data in the relational ArcGIS Data Store, with no tile or map caches.

Which action is required to enable incremental backups?

- A. Decrease the max connections during backups
- B. Enable point-in-time recovery on ArcGIS Data Store
- C. Increase the heap size of ArcGIS Data Store

Answer: B

Explanation:

To perform incremental backups using the `webgisdr` tool, point-in-time recovery must be enabled on the relational data store. This creates transaction logs needed for differential backups and aligns with best practices for enterprise-level backup strategies.

From Esri documentation:

"Incremental backups can only be used with a relational data store when point-in-time recovery is enabled.

This enables transaction log capture needed for delta backups."

* Option A is unrelated to backup functionality.

* Option C is not required unless performance tuning is needed.

NEW QUESTION # 69

An ArcGIS Pro user receives the following error when trying to publish to ArcGIS Enterprise:

"Unable to publish to ArcGIS Server, error 001369: failed to create service" The ArcGIS Server logs reveal:

* Failed to create service

* Internal server error

* Unable to instantiate class for XML schema type

* Invalid XML registry file

* 390 ArcSOC processes running

* Server uses only half of available RAM

Which action should the administrator perform?

- A. Use more dedicated instances instead of shared
- B. Increase the non-interactive desktop heap size
- C. Scale up the ArcGIS Server machine resources

Answer: A

Explanation:

This issue is consistent with desktop heap exhaustion, especially when a high number of ArcSOC processes (e.g., 390) are running on Windows. Desktop heap is a limited memory resource used for GUI and system object management. When it runs out, services can fail to start and produce XML-related errors.

Increasing the non-interactive desktop heap size in the Windows registry resolves this.

From Esri documentation:

"If the Windows desktop heap size is too low, ArcGIS Server may be unable to create new processes (ArcSOC), causing service failures and related internal server errors."

* Option B is a generic fix and won't address the specific heap exhaustion issue.

* Option C doesn't help if the root issue is OS-level heap size limits.

NEW QUESTION # 70

ArcGIS Server is installed with its Web Adaptor on the same server. The configuration is as follows:

* ArcGIS Server is federated with Portal for ArcGIS

* Portal is set up to use Integrated Windows Authentication

* The environment was set up using a domain certificate

* The attempted login account is a Windows account with admin privileges A GIS administrator tries to connect to ArcGIS Server Manager through ArcGIS Web Adaptor but the connection fails. Why did the connection fail?

- A. The certificate must come from a valid Certificate Authority and not a Domain Certificate Authority
- B. The Web Adaptor was not set to allow administrative access to the server
- C. The connection must be made with an internal admin account and not a Windows account

Answer: A
