NAHQ Certified Professional in Healthcare Quality Examination Sample Questions (Q289-Q294):

NEW QUESTION # 289

What is the primary purpose of a balanced scorecard?

- A. Linking performance improvement initiatives with financial incentives
- B. Translating the vision and strategic objectives into performance measures
- C. Providing leadership with an overview of the organization's culture
- D. Creating departmental objectives that are aligned with the strategic plan objectives

Answer: B

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

Within the Organizational Leadership domain, the balanced scorecard is a strategic management tool designed to translate an organization's mission and vision into measurable objectives and performance indicators across four perspectives: financial, customer, internal process, and learning/growth.

Its primary purpose is to align daily work with strategic goals, measure performance holistically, and support decision-making. Although it also promotes alignment (B), its fundamental design is to convert vision and strategy into actionable measures.

NEW QUESTION # 290

A quality Improvement team has Identified specific changes to Implement for a quality Improvement Initiative. As the next step, the team would like to establish a concrete timeline for implementation. Which of the following is the best tool to use for this step?

- A. process map
- B. Ishikawa diagram
- C. bar graph
- D. Gantt chart

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 291

A data analyst, using a clinical decision support system (administrative database), discovered a higher-than-expected incidence of renal failure (a serious complication) following coronary artery bypass surgery. The rate was well above 10 percent for the most recent 12 months increased over the last six quarters. However, the clinical decision support system did not contain enough detail to explain whether this complication resulted from the coronary artery bypass graft procedures or was a chronic condition present on admission. To find the answer, the data analyst use different steps. This example illustrates:

- A. How data analyst use review chart to isolate cases
- B. How an administrative system's cost effectiveness can be combined with the detailed information in a medical record review?
- C. That data should be thorough
- D. Computer aided information systems are better to gather data

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 292

Which of the following is best solved by a quality improvement team?

- A. Discipline problem
- B. Customer complaint
- C. Financial variance
- D. Systems issue

Answer: D

Explanation:

Quality improvement (QI) teams are multidisciplinary groups designed to address complex, process-related issues that impact care quality, safety, or efficiency. The most suitable issue for a QI team is one that requires systematic analysis and collaboration across departments.

Option A (Financial variance): Financial variances are typically handled by finance or administrative teams, not QI teams, which focus on clinical or operational processes.

Option B (Systems issue): This is the correct answer. The NAHQ CPHQ study guide states, "Quality improvement teams are best suited to address systems issues, such as inefficiencies or errors in care delivery processes, requiring cross-functional collaboration" (Domain 4). Systems issues, like medication reconciliation errors or patient flow bottlenecks, align with QI team expertise.

Option C (Customer complaint): Individual complaints are often resolved through service recovery or patient relations, though trends may inform QI projects. A single complaint is too narrow for a QI team.

Option D (Discipline problem): Discipline issues are managed by human resources or leadership, not QI teams, which focus on process improvement, not personnel issues.

CPHQ Objective Reference: Domain 4: Performance and Process Improvement, Objective 4.1, "Form multidisciplinary teams for complex improvement initiatives," emphasizes QI teams for systems issues. The NAHQ study guide notes, "QI teams are effective for analyzing and improving systemic processes that impact quality and safety" (Domain 4).

Rationale: Systems issues require the collaborative, data-driven approach of QI teams to identify root causes and implement solutions, aligning with CPHQ's focus on process improvement.

Reference: NAHQ CPHQ Study Guide, Domain 4: Performance and Process Improvement, Objective 4.1.

NEW QUESTION # 293

A multidisciplinary team completed a quality improvement project and wants to evaluate the team's performance. Which of the following is most helpful?

- A. Illustrate accomplishments using a fishbone diagram.
- B. Survey physicians' opinions of project outcome.
- C. Assess member completion of assigned tasks.
- D. Perform a force field analysis.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation: Assessing member completion of assigned tasks (C) objectively evaluates team performance by reviewing role fulfillment and contributions. Fishbone diagrams (A) are for root cause analysis, physician surveys (B) are subjective, and force field analysis (D) assesses change barriers. NAHQ prioritizes task completion assessment.
