Esri Enterprise Administration Professional 2201 Sample Questions (Q26-Q31):

NEW QUESTION # 26

A client requires an ArcGIS Server site that provides the following capabilities

* Serve several cached image services Each service is published from a single raster and updated once a year with new imagery from which a new cache is generated offline before publishing

* Serve a dynamic feature class of 1.000 points coming from a PostgreSQL enterprise geodatabase Which licensing role does the client need for this ArcGIS Server site?

- A. Image Server
- B. Mission Server
- C. GIS Server

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 27

A GIS administrator publishes a feature service that references user-managed data. The administrator wants users to add new features. Users should not make changes to attributes of existing features or delete features.

Which feature service operations should be set?

- A. Create and query
- B. Update and sync
- C. Extract and create

Answer: A

Explanation:

To allow users to add new features without the ability to modify or delete existing ones, the feature service should have the "Create" and "Query" operations enabled. The "Create" operation permits users to add new features, while the "Query" operation allows them to view existing features. By not enabling the "Update" and

"Delete" operations, users are restricted from making changes to or removing existing features. This configuration is ideal for workflows where data integrity is crucial, and only the addition of new data is permitted.

Enabling "Update and sync" (Option A) would allow users to modify existing features and synchronize changes, which is not desired in this scenario. "Extract and create" (Option C) is not a standard combination of operations for controlling editing permissions in feature services.

NEW QUESTION # 28

Portal for ArcGIS is running in a Windows environment.

Which type of account is recommended to run the Portal for ArcGIS service?

- A. Windows Active Directory domain account
- B. Group-managed service account
- C. Local machine administrator account
- D. Built-in system account

Answer: B

Explanation:

Esri recommends using a Group Managed Service Account (gMSA) to run Portal for ArcGIS services in Windows environments. gMSAs automatically manage passwords, align with Active Directory policies, and are ideal for enterprise-scale deployments.

From Esri documentation:

"Using a group managed service account (gMSA) to run Portal for ArcGIS services improves security by allowing Windows to manage the password, reducing administrative overhead while meeting enterprise security requirements."

* Option B (regular AD account) is acceptable but requires manual password updates.

* Option C and D are not secure or scalable for enterprise environments.

NEW QUESTION # 29

An organization is implementing a disaster recovery strategy for an ArcGIS Enterprise deployment for custom cached basemaps. Which action should the organization perform?

- A. Run the webgisdr disaster recovery utility tool
- B. Use the ArcGIS Data Store backup utility
- C. Make backup copies of all cache folder directories

Answer: C

Explanation:

Custom cached basemaps are stored as tile cache files on disk and are not included in backups created by the webgisdr tool or the ArcGIS Data Store backup utility. Therefore, to ensure these basemaps can be restored in the event of a disaster, it's essential to manually back up the cache directories where these tiles are stored.

This involves copying the cache folders to a secure backup location and ensuring they are kept in sync with any updates made to the basemaps.

The webgisdr tool (Option A) is used for backing up and restoring the ArcGIS Enterprise configuration and content but does not include custom tile caches. The ArcGIS Data Store backup utility (Option B) is used for backing up hosted feature layers and other data managed by the ArcGIS Data Store, not custom cached basemaps.

NEW QUESTION # 30

An organization recently upgraded Portal for ArcGIS. The organization must reduce the number of named users to the maximum allowed by the authorization file and delete members in bulk.

Which action should the administrator perform?

- A. Delete users using the Member tab
- B. Use command line utilities
- C. Batch delete users with ArcPy

Answer: B

Explanation:

The most efficient and supported method for managing and removing multiple users after a Portal for ArcGIS upgrade is by using command line utilities, specifically the deleteusers utility included with Portal for ArcGIS. This tool allows administrators to batch delete user accounts by referencing a file that lists usernames. This method is especially useful when needing to quickly reduce the number of named users to comply with licensing restrictions.

Deleting users individually via the Member tab (Option A) is time-consuming and inefficient when dealing with large numbers of accounts. Using ArcPy (Option C) is not supported for managing Portal users in bulk.
