Cisco Designing and Implementing Enterprise Network Assurance Sample Questions (Q27-Q32):

NEW QUESTION # 27

What role does a scripting agent play in network assurance?

- A. Monitoring server logs
- B. Collecting data from end-user devices
- C. Analyzing WAN performance
- D. Conducting synthetic web tests

Answer: D

Explanation:

A scripting agent is responsible for conducting synthetic web tests, simulating user interactions to monitor web application performance in network assurance.

NEW QUESTION # 28

What type of data does ThousandEyes use to diagnose when integrated with Cisco Secure Client?

- A. Network performance data from the user's device
- B. Data related to network hardware configurations
- C. Data related to user activity and behavior
- D. Data related to secure web gateway performance

Answer: A

Explanation:

Under the Designing and Implementing Enterprise Network Assurance (300-445 ENNA) guidelines, the integration between ThousandEyes and Cisco Secure Client (formerly AnyConnect) is designed to provide visibility into the hybrid workforce experience. The integration primarily leverages network performance data from the user's device (Option C) to diagnose connectivity and application issues.

This data is collected by the ThousandEyes Endpoint Agent, which is deployed as a module within the Cisco Secure Client. The agent captures real-time telemetry from the user's laptop or workstation, including Wi-Fi signal strength, CPU and memory utilization, and local network gateway latency. Specifically, for remote users, it monitors the health of the VPN tunnel and the performance of applications as seen from the end-user's vantage point.

When a user reports a "slow application," this integrated telemetry allows IT teams to determine if the root cause is the user's home Wi-Fi, a saturated VPN concentrator, or an issue within the ISP underlay. The agent performs Automated Session Testing (AST), which maps the network path as soon as a user joins a critical meeting or accesses a SaaS tool, providing a granular view of every hop between the device and the service destination. Unlike hardware configuration data (Option A) or behavioral analytics (Option B), the focus here is strictly on the network performance metrics that impact digital experience.

Therefore, the collection of device-centric network performance data is the core function of the Cisco Secure Client and ThousandEyes integration.

NEW QUESTION # 29

How can collected data in network assurance be used to diagnose VPN gateway issues?

- A. By analyzing server logs
- B. By monitoring real-time traffic
- C. By detecting connection failures
- D. By identifying latency spikes

Answer: C

Explanation:

Collected data can be used to diagnose VPN gateway issues by detecting connection failures and analyzing VPN tunnel performance in network assurance.

NEW QUESTION # 30

What is the primary objective of diagnosing end-device network issues using collected data?

- A. Optimizing server performance
- B. Ensuring device compliance
- C. Identifying network vulnerabilities
- D. Resolving connectivity issues

Answer: D

Explanation:

The primary objective of diagnosing end-device network issues using collected data is to identify and resolve connectivity issues affecting device performance and user experience.
