IAPP Certified Information Privacy Professional/Europe (CIPP/E) Sample Questions (Q97-Q102):

NEW QUESTION # 97

Which institution has the power to adopt findings that confirm the adequacy of the data protection level in a non-EU country?

- A. The Article 29 Working Party
- B. The European Commission
- C. The European Parliament
- D. The European Council

Answer: B

Explanation:

According to Article 45 of the GDPR, the European Commission has the power to determine, on the basis of an assessment, whether a non-EU country, a territory or a sector within that country, or an international organisation ensures an adequate level of data protection. This means that the data protection rules and standards in that country or organisation are equivalent to those in the EU. The effect of an adequacy decision is that personal data can flow freely from the EU to that country or organisation without any further safeguards or authorisations. The European Commission has adopted adequacy decisions for several countries and organisations, such as Japan, Canada, and the EU-US Data Privacy Framework. - A. Only to the extent this is allowed under the restrictions on data subjects' rights introduced under Art 23 of GDPR.
- B. Only if the organization can demonstrate that the request is clearly excessive or misguided.

Answer: B

Explanation:

According to the GDPR, data subjects have the right to access, rectify, erase, restrict, port and object to the processing of their personal data. These rights are not absolute and may be subject to limitations and conditions. One of these conditions is that the controller may charge a reasonable fee for the administrative costs of complying with the request if it is manifestly unfounded or excessive, in particular because of its repetitive character (Art 12(5) of GDPR). The controller has the burden of proving the manifestly unfounded or excessive character of the request. The fee must not exceed the actual costs incurred by the controller and must not prevent the exercise of the data subject's rights. References:

NEW QUESTION # 99

SCENARIO

Please use the following to answer the next question:

Louis, a long-time customer of Bedrock Insurance, was involved in a minor car accident a few months ago.

Although no one was hurt, Louis has been plagued by texts and calls from a company called Accidentalable offering to help him recover compensation for personal injury. Louis has heard about insurance companies selling customers' data to third parties, and he's convinced that Accidentalable must have gotten his information from Bedrock Insurance.

Louis has also been receiving an increased amount of marketing information from Bedrock, trying to sell him their full range of their insurance policies.

Perturbed by this, Louis has started looking at price comparison sites on the internet and has been shocked to find that other insurers offer much cheaper rates than Bedrock, even though he has been a loyal customer for many years. When his Bedrock policy comes up for renewal, he decides to switch to Zantrum Insurance.

In order to activate his new insurance policy, Louis needs to supply Zantrum with information about his No Claims bonus, his vehicle and his driving history. After researching his rights under the GDPR, he writes to ask Bedrock to transfer his information directly to Zantrum. He also takes this opportunity to ask Bedrock to stop using his personal data for marketing purposes.

Bedrock supplies Louis with a PDF and XML (Extensible Markup Language) versions of his No Claims Certificate, but tells Louis it cannot transfer his data directly to Zantrum as this is not technically feasible.

Bedrock also explains that Louis's contract included a provision whereby Louis agreed that his data could be used for marketing purposes; according to Bedrock, it is too late for Louis to change his mind about this. It angers Louis when he recalls the wording of the contract, which was filled with legal jargon and very confusing.

In the meantime, Louis is still receiving unwanted calls from Accidentalable Insurance. He writes to Accidentalable to ask for the name of the organization that supplied his details to them. He warns Accidentalable that he plans to complain to the data protection authority, because he thinks their company has been using his data unlawfully. His letter states that he does not want his data being used by them in any way.

Accidentalable's response letter confirms Louis's suspicions. Accidentalable is Bedrock Insurance's wholly owned subsidiary, and they received information about Louis's accident from Bedrock shortly after Louis submitted his accident claim. Accidentalable assures Louis that there has been no breach of the GDPR, as Louis's contract included, a provision in which he agreed to share his information with Bedrock's affiliates for business purposes.

Louis is disgusted by the way in which he has been treated by Bedrock, and writes to them insisting that all his information be erased from their computer system.

Which statement accurately summarizes Bedrock's obligation in regard to Louis's data portability request?

- A. Bedrock has failed to comply with the duty to transfer Louis's data to Zantrum because the duty applies wherever personal data are processed by automated means and necessary for the performance of a contract with the customer.
- B. Bedrock does not have to transfer Louis's data to Zantrum because the right to data portability does not apply where personal data are processed in order to carry out tasks in the public interest.
- C. Bedrock has failed to comply with the duty to transfer Louis's data to Zantrum because it has an obligation to develop commonly used, machine-readable and interoperable formats so that all customer data can be ported to other insurers on request.
- D. Bedrock does not have a duty to transfer Louis's data to Zantrum if doing so is legitimately not technically feasible.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 100

Which sentence BEST summarizes the concepts of "fairness," "lawfulness" and "transparency", as expressly required by Article 5 of the GDPR?

- A. Fairness and transparency refer to the communication of key information before collecting data; lawfulness refers to compliance with government regulations.
- B. Fairness refers to limiting the amount of data collected from individuals; lawfulness refers to the approval of company guidelines by the state; transparency solely relates to communication of key information before collecting data.
- C. Fairness refers to the security of personal data; lawfulness and transparency refers to the analysis of ordinances to ensure they are uniformly enforced.
- D. Fairness refers to the collection of data from diverse subjects; lawfulness refers to the need for legal rules to be uniform; transparency refers to giving individuals access to their data.

Answer: A

Explanation:

According to the UK GDPR, the processing of personal data must be lawful, fair and transparent¹. Lawfulness means that there must be a valid legal basis for processing personal data, such as consent, contract, legal obligation, vital interests, public task or legitimate interests¹. Fairness means that the processing must not be detrimental, unexpected or misleading to the individuals concerned¹. Transparency means that the individuals must be informed about how their data is used, who it is shared with, what rights they have and how they can exercise them¹. Therefore, the sentence that best summarizes these concepts is option A, which states that fairness and transparency refer to the communication of key information before collecting data; lawfulness refers to compliance with government regulations.
