ISQI ISTQB Foundation Level - Acceptance Testing Sample Questions (Q43-Q48):

NEW QUESTION # 43

Which one of the following combinations of given perspective and statement matches BEST?

- A. From a user perspective, missing feedback from the system when processing a request it is a problem.
- B. From a business perspective, the choice of performance test tools strongly depends on the applied test techniques.
- C. From a technical perspective, the number of concurrent user and the types of transactions performed are major elements.
- D. From a business perspective, computing power and architecture are major parameters for fine- tuning the system.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 44

- A. In both Acceptance-Test Driven Development (ATDD. and Behavior-Driven Development (BDD., acceptance test cases are written by a test automation engineer as test automation code.
- B. In both Acceptance-Test Driven Development (ATDD. and Behavior-Driven Development (BDD., test cases provide examples of product use.
- C. Behavior-Driven Development (BDD. considers acceptance test design as an activity to be handled by the test team after requirements have been finalized.
- D. In Acceptance-Test Driven Development (ATDD., test cases are written prior to the acceptance criteria.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 45

Which one of the following statements regarding ATDD / BDD is true?

- A. In both Acceptance-Test Driven Development (ATDD. and Behavior-Driven Development (BDD., acceptance test cases are written by a test automation engineer as test automation code.
- B. In both Acceptance-Test Driven Development (ATDD. and Behavior-Driven Development (BDD., test cases provide examples of product use.
- C. Behavior-Driven Development (BDD. considers acceptance test design as an activity to be handled by the test team after requirements have been finalized.
- D. In Acceptance-Test Driven Development (ATDD., test cases are written prior to the acceptance criteria.

Answer: B

Explanation:

ATDD and BDD are agile development approaches that emphasize collaboration among stakeholders (such as business analysts, developers, testers, and customers) to define clear and testable acceptance criteria before or as requirements are being finalized.

Both techniques promote using concrete examples to drive development and validate understanding.

In ATDD, acceptance test cases are derived directly from user stories or requirements and written before the actual implementation starts. In BDD, scenarios are expressed in natural language (often using Gherkin syntax) to describe behaviors the system should exhibit under specific conditions. In both cases, these tests serve not only as validation tools but also as executable specifications - i.e., shared understanding expressed through concrete examples.

Option B is correct because both methodologies use examples (scenarios/test cases) to describe how a system should behave - serving as acceptance criteria.

Incorrect options:

Option A wrongly suggests BDD defers testing until after requirements are finalized - it actually promotes early collaboration.

Option C is false - in ATDD, test cases are based on predefined acceptance criteria, not written beforehand.

Option D is inaccurate - acceptance tests in ATDD and BDD may be automated but are collaboratively written first, not by test automation engineers alone.

Exact Reference - ISTQB CTFL Acceptance Testing Syllabus (Section 2.2):

"Both ATDD and BDD involve the collaborative definition of test cases before implementation to clarify requirements and serve as product usage examples."

NEW QUESTION # 46

Which one of the following test design techniques fits accepting testing purposes BEST?

- A. equivalence partitioning
- B. input validation
- C. defect-based test design
- D. static code analysis

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 47

Which one of the following statements describes the collaboration between business analysts and testers BEST?

- A. Once the requirements and acceptance criteria have been defined, business analysts are no longer involved in testing activities.
- B. Testers participate in identifying business needs of stakeholders to better understand the business needs and related requirements.
- C. Business analysts collaborate on test planning and risk analysis to ensure that further on, appropriate test cases are developed and prioritized.
- D. Business analysts usually cannot review acceptance tests, because they do not understand the technical details.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The ISTQB CTFL Acceptance Testing Syllabus emphasizes the importance of collaboration between business analysts and testers throughout the testing lifecycle, especially during test planning and risk identification.

Business analysts contribute domain knowledge and business context, which is crucial in identifying business- critical areas, defining priorities, and ensuring that acceptance tests align with business goals.

Option A correctly identifies this collaboration. During test planning, business analysts help define acceptance criteria, identify risks from a business perspective, and support test prioritization to focus on high-value features. Their early involvement ensures that acceptance tests are meaningful and support stakeholder expectations.

Option B is incorrect as business analysts actively review acceptance tests to confirm alignment with business rules, regardless of technical complexity.

Option C is inaccurate because although testers seek to understand business needs, the responsibility for identifying those needs lies with business analysts.

Option D is incorrect; business analysts remain engaged throughout the project lifecycle, including test support and defect triage.

Exact Reference - ISTQB CTFL Acceptance Testing Syllabus (Section 1.4):

"Testers and business analysts collaborate during test planning and analysis activities to ensure the tests meet business needs and risk areas are adequately covered." Therefore, A provides the most accurate and comprehensive description.
