Salesforce B2B Commerce for Developers Accredited Professional Sample Questions (Q141-Q146):

NEW QUESTION # 141

A developer needs to import some new product data contained in a JSON file one time. What are two viable ways to do this? .

- A. Convert the JSON to a CSV file and use Data Loader to import it
- B. Run a command like: `sfdx force:data:import:bulk -f NewProducts.json -u <your username>`
- C. Convert the JSON to an xlsx file and use Workbench to import it
- D. Run a command like: `sfdx force:data:tree:import -f NewProducts.json -u <your username>`

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

Two viable ways that a developer can import some new product data contained in a JSON file one time are running a command like: `sfdx force:data:tree:import -f NewProducts.json -u <your username>` and converting the JSON to a CSV file and using Data Loader to import it. Running a command like: `sfdx force:data:tree:import -f NewProducts.json -u <your username>` allows the developer to import data from a JSON file into an org using Salesforce CLI commands. The `sfdx force:data:tree:import` command is a Salesforce CLI command that imports data into an org using JSON files that conform to the SOBJect Tree API specification. The SOBJect Tree API specification is a format that defines how records are represented in JSON files for data import or export. The `-f` flag specifies the path of the JSON file that contains the data to be imported. The `-u` flag specifies the username or alias of the org where the data will be imported. Running this command will create records in the org based on the data in the JSON file. Converting the JSON to a CSV file and using Data Loader to import it allows the developer to import data from a CSV file into an org using Data Loader. Data Loader is a tool that allows users to import or export data between Salesforce and CSV files. The developer can use an online converter or a spreadsheet application to convert their JSON file into a CSV file that matches the structure and format of their Salesforce object. The developer can then use Data Loader to import the CSV file into their org and create records based on the data in the CSV file. Converting the JSON to an xlsx file and using Workbench to import it is not a viable way to import some new product data contained in a JSON file one time, as Workbench does not support xlsx files for data import or export. Workbench is a web-based tool that provides access to various Salesforce features and functionalities, such as data manipulation, REST Explorer, and Apex Execute. Running a command like: `sfdx force:data:import:bulk -f NewProducts.json -u <your username>` is not a viable way either, as there is no such command as `sfdx force:data:import:bulk`. The correct command for importing data using bulk API is `sfdx force:data:bulk:upsert`. ### NEW QUESTION # 142

Which three considerations should a developer keep in mind when creating a tax provider?

- A. Whether to use JSON or XML
- B. Whether an AppExchange package already exists
- C. Success criteria
- D. What events to fire in the Lightning Web Component
- E. How to handle errors

Answer: A,C,E

Explanation:

When creating a tax provider in Salesforce B2B Commerce, developers should consider the data format (JSON or XML) for interoperability with the tax service, define clear success criteria to ensure accurate tax calculations, and implement robust error handling to manage exceptions and failures gracefully. Salesforce B2B Commerce documentation emphasizes the importance of these considerations for integrating external services, ensuring reliability and consistency in tax calculations across different jurisdictions and scenarios.

NEW QUESTION # 143

Which wire adapter should a developer use to retrieve metadata about a specific picklist?

- A. `getPicklist`
- B. `getPicklistValues`

- C. getPicklistMetadata
- D. getPicklistMetadataValues

Answer: B

Explanation:

The developer should use the getPicklistValues wire adapter to retrieve metadata about a specific picklist. This wire adapter allows the developer to get the picklist values for a specified field on a given object and record type. The wire adapter returns an object that contains the picklist values, the default value, and the controlling field (if any). The developer can use this wire adapter to populate a custom picklist component with the appropriate values based on the object and record type context. The other options are incorrect because they are not valid wire adapters for retrieving picklist metadata. getPicklistValues, Retrieving Picklist Values Without Using Apex, B2B Commerce and D2C Commerce Developer Guide

NEW QUESTION # 144

Which element can be used to pass HTML from a parent component to a child component? 03m 19s

- A. <html></html>
- B.
- C. <template></template>
- D. <slot></slot>

Answer: D

Explanation:

To pass HTML from a parent component to a child component, the child component needs to have a <slot></slot> element in its template. A slot is a placeholder for markup that a parent component passes into a component's body. Slots are part of the Web Component specification. The parent component can use the slot name or the default slot to specify which HTML content goes into which slot of the child component. The other options are not valid elements for passing HTML from parent to child. Reference: Slots

How parent component pass HTML to child component in Angular?

NEW QUESTION # 145

How is a price group dynamically set?

- A. By using contract pricing
- B. By overriding the ccLogicProductPrice class
- C. By extending the ccApiPriceList API
- D. By extending the cc_hk_pricing hook

Answer: D

Explanation:

A price group can be dynamically set by extending the cc_hk_pricing hook. This hook allows modifying the price group based on various factors, such as the user, cart, product, or storefront. For example, the hook can apply a different price group for a specific product category or for a specific user segment.
