NEW QUESTION # 87

Probability of failure is typically expressed in terms of:

- A. undesirable events
- B. deterioration rate
- C. frequency
- D. time

Answer: C

Explanation:

As per Section 9.2 of API 580:

"POF is typically expressed in terms of frequency. Frequency is expressed as a number of events occurring during a specific timeframe." Further clarified in the same section:

"For probability analysis, the timeframe is typically expressed as a fixed interval (e.g. one year) and the frequency is expressed as events per interval (e.g. 0.0002 failures per year)." This confirms that frequency is the correct term used to express probability of failure in RBI. Other options like deterioration rate or time are influencing factors but not the standard unit of expression.
