NEW QUESTION # 151

A network administrator is configuring VRRP to avoid a traffic black hole when the transport side of the network is down on the master device. What must be configured to get the fastest failover to standby?

- A. prefix-list tracking
- B. lower timer interval
- C. OMP tracking
- D. higher group ID number

Answer: A

Explanation:

Track Prefix List—Track both the OMP session and a list of remote prefixes, which is defined in a prefix list configured on the local router. If the master VRRP router loses all its OMP sessions, VRRP failover occurs as described for the Track OMP option. In addition, if reachability to one of the prefixes in the list is lost, VRRP failover occurs immediately, without waiting for the OMP hold timer to expire, thus minimizing the amount of overlay traffic is dropped while the vEdge routers determine the VRRP master.
