ISQI ISTQB Certified Tester-Foundation Level - Usability Testing Sample Questions (Q29-Q34):

NEW QUESTION # 29

You're defining usability test tasks for a web shop for mobile phones and smartphones. Finding out whether users are able to place an order easily has been identified as the main goal of the usability test.

Which of the following is a reasonable task definition to include in the test?

- A. Your phone broke and you're looking for a new smartphone. Your budget is 200$ and it should have an infrared sensor as you like to operate your home entertainment system with it. Find a suited smartphone and order it!
- B. Enter the item number "1469483" in the search box and click "OK". Put the first item in the cart by clicking "add to bag". Then, click on "checkout" in order to start the order process. After that, fill in the form and click on "submit".
- C. Which mobile operating system do you prefer?
- D. Put the first phone you find in your shopping cart!

Answer: A

Explanation:

Option B represents a realistic, goal-oriented scenario that reflects how an actual user would interact with the website. It incorporates context, user intent, constraints, and desired outcome—all characteristics of well-designed usability tasks. Option A is vague and lacks real-world motivation. Option C is too prescriptive and limits insight into user behavior, while D is a survey question, not a usability task. According to Nielsen Norman Group and ISO 25062, the best usability tasks are scenario-based, realistic, and outcome-driven—making B the correct answer.

NEW QUESTION # 30

Your project manager asked you for your advice. A recent project failed because the users were not satisfied with the final product, although your project manager claimed that she followed the human-centered design process. She interviewed users at the start of the project, created a first prototype and evaluated that prototype.

Which part of the human-centered design process did she miss?

- A. The "design"-part
- B. The "iterate"-part
- C. The "evaluate"-part
- D. The "analyze"-part

Answer: B

Explanation:

The human-centered design process emphasizes iterative development—testing and refining designs through multiple cycles. In the scenario, the project manager interviewed users and evaluated a prototype but did not iterate based on feedback. Skipping iteration likely resulted in unmet user needs. Human-centered design, per ISO 9241-210, includes: understanding context of use, specifying requirements, producing design solutions, and evaluating—repeated iteratively. Hence, option D ("iterate") is correct.

NEW QUESTION # 31

Which of the following is the highest WCAG conformance level, promising the most accessible content?

- A. Quadruple A (AAAA)
- B. Double A (AA)
- C. Single A (A)
- D. Triple A (AAA)

Answer: D

Explanation:

The Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG) define three levels of conformance for web content accessibility:

Level A (Single A) is the minimum level of compliance.

Level AA (Double A) is the standard recommended for most websites, balancing accessibility and design.

Level AAA (Triple A) is the highest and most comprehensive level of accessibility, covering the widest range of needs.

There is no such level as "Quadruple A (AAAA)," making option D invalid.

Thus, WCAG Triple A (AAA) promises the most accessible content, even though it may not always be practically achievable for all types of content.

NEW QUESTION # 32

Which of the following is a principal task of the usability tester role?

- A. Discuss findings from usability test
- B. Define testing tasks
- C. Perform pre-session briefing of participants
- D. Communicate with test participant

Answer: D

Explanation:

The usability tester, often synonymous with the usability test moderator in practice, is primarily responsible for interacting directly with the test participants during the usability testing sessions. This role includes communicating with participants to guide them through test tasks, answering questions without leading responses, and ensuring the session runs smoothly. Effective communication is essential to facilitate participant comfort, elicit genuine user behaviors, and capture accurate usability data.

Performing the pre-session briefing (Option A) may be done by the usability tester but is often a shared responsibility or part of test facilitation protocols. Discussing findings (Option C) typically falls to analysts or usability experts after testing sessions are completed and data analyzed. Defining testing tasks (Option D) is usually done by test designers or analysts during test planning, not during the test execution.

Therefore, communicating with test participants during testing is a core, principal task of the usability tester role.

#####

NEW QUESTION # 33

Which of the following is a key activity in a usability test session?

- A. Talk to the participant during the completion of a task
- B. Test the set up and modify the test script if needed
- C. Extract usability findings and recommendations
- D. Moderate the usability test

Answer: D

Explanation:

Moderating the usability test is a core activity during the actual usability test session. The moderator guides participants through tasks, ensures the session stays on track, and avoids introducing bias. Option A (testing the setup) happens before the session, during preparation. Option C (extracting findings) occurs during analysis, after the test. Option D (talking during task execution) should be minimized unless necessary, to avoid influencing user behavior. Therefore, option B is the only correct answer aligned with best practices in usability testing.
