CompTIA Data+ Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q181-Q186):

NEW QUESTION # 181

An analyst needs to conduct a quick analysis. Which of the following is the FIRST step the analyst should perform with the data?

- A. Conduct a link analysis and illustrate the connection points.
- B. Conduct an exploratory analysis and use descriptive statistics.
- C. Conduct an initial analysis and use a Pareto chart.
- D. Conduct a trend analysis and use a scatter chart.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The first step the analyst should perform with the data is to conduct an exploratory analysis and use descriptive statistics. Exploratory analysis is a type of analysis that aims to summarize the main characteristics of the data, identify patterns, outliers, and relationships, and generate hypotheses for further investigation.

Descriptive statistics are numerical measures that describe the central tendency, variability, and distribution of the data, such as mean, median, mode, standard deviation, range, quartiles, etc. Exploratory analysis and descriptive statistics can help the analyst gain a better understanding of the data and its quality, as well as prepare the data for further analysis.

- B. Create multiple reports, one for each needed date range.
- C. Add macros to the report to speed up the filtering and calculations process.
- D. Build calculations into the report so they are done automatically.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 183

The process of performing initial investigations on data to spot outliers, discover patterns, and test assumptions with statistical insight and graphical visualization is called:

- A. an exploratory data analysis.
- B. a link analysis.
- C. a performance analysis.
- D. a t-test.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 184

Which of the following data sampling methods involves dividing a population into subgroups by similar characteristics?

- A. Stratified
- B. Systematic
- C. Simple random
- D. Convenience

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

Stratified sampling is a data sampling method that involves dividing a population into subgroups by similar characteristics, such as age, gender, income, etc. Then, a simple random sample is drawn from each subgroup.

This method ensures that each subgroup is adequately represented in the sample and reduces the sampling error. References: CompTIA Data+ Certification Exam Objectives, page 11.
