APICS Certified Supply Chain Professional Sample Questions (Q515-Q520):

NEW QUESTION # 515

Which of the following outcomes occurs when direct shipping is used instead of a distribution network?

- A. Order-fill rates are reduced.
- B. Inventory obsolescence is reduced.
- C. Inventory velocity is reduced.
- D. Outbound transportation cost is reduced.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Direct shipping from the manufacturer to the customer, bypassing distribution centers or warehouses, reduces inventory obsolescence. This is because products spend less time in storage and are delivered more quickly to customers, minimizing the risk of inventory becoming outdated or unsellable. Direct shipping can also improve inventory velocity, as products are moved directly to their end destination without intermediate storage, thus reducing the time they spend in the supply chain.
