HCL Software Academy HCLSoftware Certified Associate Administrator Exam - Notes/Domino 12 Sample Questions (Q59-Q64):

NEW QUESTION # 59

Which two server tasks are required to maintain mail routing and directory synchronization? (Choose two)

- A. Router
- B. HTTP
- C. AdminP
- D. Dircat

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

To maintain a functional mail and administrative environment, two core tasks are essential. The Router task is responsible for the actual delivery and transfer of messages between users and servers, which is the heart of mail routing. The AdminP (Administration Process) task handles the background synchronization of directory changes-such as user renames or deletions-ensuring that the Domino Directory remains synchronized and accurate across all servers in the domain.

NEW QUESTION # 60

Which two components are accessible via the Domino Administrator Client's Files tab? (Choose two)

- A. Policy creation
- B. Compact and Fixup utilities
- C. ACL management
- D. Replication tools

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

The Files tab in the Domino Administrator Client is the central management area for database-level operations. From this tab, administrators can access replication tools to manually trigger or manage the synchronization of database replicas across servers. Additionally, it provides access to the Tools pane, where maintenance utilities like Compact (to reduce file size) and Fixup (to repair corrupted databases) are located for server-side maintenance.

NEW QUESTION # 61

What tool is typically used to perform the initial server configuration after installing the Domino binaries?

- A. Notes.ini Editor
- B. Server Setup Utility
- C. Domino Designer
- D. Domino Administrator Client

Answer: B

Explanation:

After the physical installation of the Domino binaries (the "program files") is complete, the server is not yet functional. The administrator must run the Server Setup Utility. This utility (which can be run via a graphical interface or through a web browser in recent versions) guides the administrator through naming the server, establishing the organization, setting up the first administrator, and choosing which initial services (like HTTP or SMTP) to enable.

NEW QUESTION # 62

What is displayed in the Domino Administrator Client's Messaging tab?

- A. Mail routing status and router diagnostics
- B. Replication schedule and encryption settings
- C. Sametime server connection details
- D. DAOS and attachment consolidation details

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Messaging tab in the Domino Administrator Client is the central hub for monitoring and managing the mail system. It provides administrators with a comprehensive view of mail routing status and router diagnostics, allowing them to see how many messages are pending in the mail box, track the progress of the Router task, and troubleshoot delivery failures or bottlenecks in the mail flow.

NEW QUESTION # 63

Which two components are required to enable an ID Vault in a Domino domain? (Choose two)

- A. An assigned Vault ID file
- B. A configured policy that assigns users to the vault
- C. A Vault server or cluster
- D. A Domino Directory with LDAP enabled

Answer: A,B

Explanation:

To successfully implement an ID Vault, the administrator must complete several configuration steps.

According to the certification requirements, the two vital administrative components are An assigned Vault ID file (which identifies the vault itself and allows for secure management) and A configured policy that assigns users to the vault. Without a policy (either Organizational or Explicit) designating which users belong to which vault, the Notes client will not know to upload or synchronize the user's ID file with the server-side repository.
