Appian Certified Analyst Sample Questions (Q15-Q20):

NEW QUESTION # 15

You are trying to decide between using a side-by-side layout or a column layout.

Which resource should be referred to in order to make sure that best practices are followed?

- A. Appian Discussion Board
- B. Appian SAIL Recipes
- C. Appian UX Design Guide
- D. Appian Tutorials

Answer: C

Explanation:

The Appian UX Design Guide is the appropriate resource to consult when making decisions about layout choices like side-by-side versus column layouts. This guide provides best practices for designing user interfaces in Appian applications, ensuring that the UI is intuitive, responsive, and consistent with Appian's design principles. Referring to the UX Design Guide helps in making informed design decisions that enhance user experience. Appian UX Design Guide Note: While other resources like Appian Tutorials, Discussion Boards, and SAIL Recipes are useful for specific cases, the UX Design Guide is the primary reference for best practices in UI design.

NEW QUESTION # 16

Which Appian object's primary purpose is to define the structure of related data for use in a process model?

- A. Constant
- B. Custom Data Type (CDT)
- C. Record
- D. Expression Rule

Answer: B

Explanation:

A Custom Data Type (CDT) in Appian is primarily used to define the structure of related data. It represents a structured data type composed of multiple fields, and it is often used in process models to define the shape of data that will be passed between different activities or stored in the database.

Custom Data Type (CDT) Overview:

CDTs allow developers to define a complex data structure that can include various data types, such as text, numbers, dates, and even nested CDTs.

They are essential for passing structured data within a process model and between Appian applications and external systems.

Why Not Other Options?:

B . Record: Used to represent a view of data from an external or internal source, focusing on displaying and interacting with that data rather than defining its structure.

C . Constant: Stores a fixed value that can be used throughout the application, but it does not define complex data structures.

D . Expression Rule: Encapsulates logic and calculations but does not define data structures.

Using CDTs ensures that the data used within process models is structured and consistent, enabling robust data handling across the application.

NEW QUESTION # 17

Within the "initiate" phase, who is expected to lead and facilitate requirements gathering discussions?

- A. Product Owner
- B. Scrum Master
- C. Appian Analyst
- D. Testers

Answer: C

Explanation:

During the "initiate" phase of a project, the Appian Analyst is expected to lead and facilitate requirements gathering discussions. The Appian Analyst works closely with stakeholders to understand business needs and translate them into technical requirements that the development team can implement.

Role of Appian Analyst:

The Appian Analyst acts as a bridge between business stakeholders and the development team.

They are responsible for ensuring that the gathered requirements are clear, actionable, and aligned with the project goals.

Why Not Other Options?:

- A . Scrum Master: Facilitates the Scrum process but does not lead requirements gathering.
- B . Product Owner: Prioritizes the backlog but often relies on the Analyst for detailed requirements gathering.
- C . Testers: Focus on verifying that the application meets the requirements but do not typically gather them.

The Appian Analyst plays a crucial role in the successful initiation of a project by ensuring that the requirements are well understood and documented.

NEW QUESTION # 18

During a development sprint, a new issue is identified and raised to the team.

What should you ask the Product Owner to do?

- A. Modify the sprint plan to swap a completed story with the new issue
- B. Evaluate the severity of the issue and re-prioritize the sprint if needed
- C. Add the new issue in the next sprint
- D. Add the new issue to the current sprint scope

Answer: B

Explanation:

When a new issue is identified during a sprint, it is essential to evaluate its impact on the current sprint's goals and priorities. The Product Owner should assess the severity and importance of the issue. If it is critical, they may need to re-prioritize the sprint backlog and adjust the sprint scope accordingly. This approach ensures that the development team focuses on delivering the highest value to the project. Simply adding the issue to the current sprint or the next sprint without proper evaluation could disrupt the sprint's progress and lead to inefficiencies. NEW QUESTION # 19

When writing a user story, which statement best represents the standard format?

- A. "As a user, I want to delete a photo and upload a new one."
- B. "As a user, I want the application to integrate with 3rd party systems."
- C. "As a marketing manager, I want reports on my client base so that I can access them via a dashboard."
- D. "As an Investor, I want to see a summary of my investment accounts so that I can decide where to focus my attention."

Answer: D

Explanation:

The standard format for writing user stories follows a specific structure: "As a [role], I want [goal] so that [benefit]." This format ensures that the user story captures who the user is, what they want to achieve, and why it is important.

User Story Format:

Role: The user role that is relevant to the story.

Goal: The specific action or feature the user desires.

Benefit: The reason why this feature or action is valuable to the user.

Example Explanation:

The correct example, "As an Investor, I want to see a summary of my investment accounts so that I can decide where to focus my attention," perfectly fits the standard format. It specifies the user role (Investor), the goal (seeing a summary of accounts), and the benefit (deciding where to focus attention).

Why Not Other Options?:

A and D lack clarity on the benefit or the user's role, making them less effective as user stories.

B is close but is more detailed than the standard format, making it less concise.

Using the standard format for user stories helps ensure that the development team clearly understands the user's needs and the value of the feature being requested.
