Salesforce Platform Developer II Sample Questions (Q15-Q20):

NEW QUESTION # 15

A developer has a Debug method within a class, which is invoked hundreds of times.

What is the optimal functionality in the Developer Console to count the number of calls made to the method?

- A. The "Execution Stack" Panel
- B. The "Execution Log" Panel
- C. The "Executed Units" tab under the Execution Overview Panel
- D. The "Execution Tree" tab under the Stack Tree Panel

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 16

A company wants to incorporate a third-party web service to set the Address fields when an Account is inserted, if they have not already been set. What is the optimal way to achieve this?

- A. Create an Apex class, execute a Batch Apex job from it, and make a callout from the Batch Apex job.
- B. Create an Apex class, execute a Future method from it, and make a callout from the Future method.
- C. Create an Apex trigger, execute a Queueable job from it, and make a callout from the Queueable job.
- D. Create a Before Save Flow, execute a Queueable job from it, and make a callout from the Queueable job.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The requirement is to perform a callout when a record is inserted. Because Salesforce prohibits synchronous callouts after DML operations in the same transaction, this must be handled asynchronously.

Queueable Apex (Option C) is the optimal choice for this integration. When an Account is inserted, a trigger captures the ID and enqueues a Queueable job. Queueable is superior to Future methods (Option D) because it supports complex data types (not just primitives), allows for job chaining, and provides a Job ID that can be used for monitoring via AsyncApexJob.

Before-Save Flows (Option A) cannot directly perform callouts, and while they can trigger asynchronous paths, the programmatic control offered by a Trigger-to-Queueable pattern is more robust for complex third-party integrations. Batch Apex (Option B) is designed for bulk processing of existing records and is "overkill" for a real-time, record-by-record trigger requirement. By using a Trigger with Queueable, the developer ensures the address validation happens nearly in real-time without blocking the user's initial save transaction or hitting concurrent request limits.

NEW QUESTION # 17

Universal Containers wants to be able to bring up an Account detail page and view a table of containers currently being rented. The user wants to be able to click on a container in the table and quickly edit and save the location of the container.

In addition to this, the page should have a section that shows the location of each container on a map. Universal Containers wants the map to re-render whenever the location of a container is changed.

What can a developer use to accomplish this task?

- A. A single Visualforce Page leveraging Platform Events
- B. Two Visualforce Page Components leveraging Application Events
- C. Two Lightning Components leveraging Platform Events
- D. Two Lightning Components leveraging Application Events

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 18

What is the value of "i" printed by the System.debug statement, if the value of "j" is 2 at the end of the transaction? insert new Account[] {new Account(Name = 'yyy'), new Account(Name = 'yyy')}; integer i = 0; integer j; for (Account[] tmp : [SELECT Id FROM Account WHERE Name = 'yyy']) j=tmp.size(); i++; System.debug(i);

- A. 0
- B. 1
