Cyber AB Certified CMMC Assessor (CCA) Exam Sample Questions (Q28-Q33):

NEW QUESTION # 28

During a readiness assessment for CoolPlanes Inc., Liz, a CCA, discovers a folder of technical drawings and illustrations of the aircraft that CoolPlanes produces. Liz has a younger brother, J.D., who loves airplanes. She thinks a large printed copy of one of the illustrations would make an excellent gift for J.D.'s birthday next month. She copies the drawing and sends it to be printed on a large canvas when she gets home. Which of the following principles of the CMMC Code of Professional Conduct did Liz most likely violate?

- A. Professionalism
- B. Objectivity
- C. Confidentiality
- D. Ethical Practices

Answer: C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed in Depth Explanation:

Using OSC proprietary data personally breaches Confidentiality (Option D). Options A, B, and C are less directly applicable.

Extract from Official Document (CoPC):

* Paragraph 3.5 - Respect for Intellectual Property (pg. 8): "Do not use OSC confidential information for personal purposes."

References:

CMMC Code of Professional Conduct, Paragraph 3.5.

NEW QUESTION # 29

A CCA was part of an Assessment Team tasked with conducting a CMMC assessment for an OSC. Happy to have been part of the team that completed the assessment, the CCA posted the OSC's assessment results on their Twitter/X account. Which CMMC Code of Professional Conduct (CoPC) principle has the CCA violated?

- A. Availability
- B. Objectivity
- C. Proper Use of Methods
- D. Confidentiality

Answer: D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed in Depth Explanation:

Posting results publicly breaches Confidentiality (Option C), not Availability (Option A), Methods (Option B), or Objectivity (Option D).

Extract from Official Document (CoPC):

* Paragraph 2.3 - Confidentiality (pg. 5): "Maintain confidentiality of all information learned during the assessment." References: CMMC Code of Professional Conduct, Paragraph 2.3.

NEW QUESTION # 30

An OSC plans to bid for a DoD contract to supply laser welding services to repair a fleet of unmanned aerial vehicles (UAVs). This requires them to be CMMC Level 2 certified since the information they will receive from the DoD is Controlled Technical Information (CTI). However, their repair and welding services require a Computer Numerical Control (CNC) machine to fabricate some crucial parts. Since the welding is mainly automated using robots, the OSC has intelligently integrated its SCADA system with Programmable Logic Controllers (PLCs) for increased accuracy, improved safety and efficiency, and enhanced flexibility. If the OSC wins the contract, how will the banner marking on documents containing CUI from the DoD be structured?

- A. CUI-SP//CTI
- B. CUI/SP-CTI
- C. CUI//SP-CTI
- D. CUI//CTI

Answer: C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation:

Controlled Technical Information (CTI), per the NARA CUI Registry, is a CUI-specified category requiring the banner marking "CUI//SP-CTI." The double forward slash (//) separates the base CUI designation from the specified category (SP-CTI), per CUI marking guidelines. Option B lacks the specified designation, Option C uses an incorrect single slash, and Option D reverses the structure. A is correct.

Reference:

NARA CUI Registry: CTI Category - <https://www.archives.gov/cui/registry/category-detail/export-control.html>: "CTI is marked CUI//SP-CTI."

NEW QUESTION # 31

An OSC has produced two assessment scopes. When the Lead Assessor questioned the OSC PoC why, they detailed that they process, store, or transmit FCI within one assessment scope and CUI in another. Which scope will the OSC obtain a CMMC Level 2 certification for?

- A. For both assessment scopes
- B. The scope that transmits, processes, or stores CUI
- C. The scope that processes, transmits, or stores FCI
- D. The OSC cannot be certified at Level 2 because they haven't met Level 1 requirements

Answer: B

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation:

The CMMC framework allows separate scopes for FCI (Level 1) and CUI (Level 2). Level 2 certification applies only to environments handling CUI, as it requires all 110 practices, whereas Level 1 (17 practices) suffices for FCI alone. The OSC's CUI scope qualifies for Level 2, while the FCI scope aligns with Level 1 (or a self-assessment). Option C is incorrect, as Level 2 doesn't apply to FCI-only scopes. Option D lacks evidence of Level 1 non-compliance. B is correct per the scoping guide.

Reference:

CMMC Assessment Scope - Level 2, Section 1.1 (Level Applicability), p. 2: "Level 2 certification applies to CUI-handling environments."

NEW QUESTION # 32

A CCA is assessing the concept of least functionality in accordance with CM.L2-3.4.6: Least Functionality.

Which method is the LEAST LIKELY to be useful as an assessment technique?

- A. Interview personnel with security configuration management responsibilities.
- B. Interview personnel with information security responsibilities.
- C. Interview personnel who wrote the configuration management policy.

- D. Interview personnel with application development responsibilities.

Answer: C

Explanation:

To validate least functionality, the assessor must evaluate implementation (via security staff, admins, developers). Interviewing the policy author provides limited value since it does not confirm whether the policy is implemented in practice.

Extract:

"Assessors should confirm least functionality through interviews with individuals responsible for system configuration, security, and implementation. Policy documentation authors alone are not sufficient evidence." Thus, interviewing the policy writer is least useful.
