VMware Advanced VMware Cloud Foundation 9.0 Automation Sample Questions (Q22-Q27):

NEW QUESTION # 22

A customer requires a backup of blueprints within VMware Cloud Foundation (VCF) Automation to a third- party solution each time the blueprint is released.

What construct will satisfy the requirement?

- A. ArgoCD service
- B. Velero service
- C. Event broker subscription
- D. CloudConfig

Answer: C

Explanation:

To automate the export or backup of Blueprints (Cloud Templates) in VCF 9.0, the Event Broker Service (EBS) is the required mechanism. While Velero (Option A) is used for backing up vSphere Pods and ArgoCD (Option C) is for continuous delivery, neither is designed to "listen" for internal automation metadata changes.

By creating an Event Broker Subscription mapped to the "Blueprint Released" or "Template Version Created" topic, the administrator can trigger an action every time a developer finalizes a new version of their infrastructure code. This triggered action (typically an ABX or Orchestrator task) can then programmatically retrieve the YAML definition of the blueprint via the VCF Automation API and push it to an external third- party storage solution or a secondary Git repository for long-term archival and backup. This ensures that the organization maintains a complete, off-appliance history of its infrastructure designs, satisfying auditing and disaster recovery requirements.

NEW QUESTION # 23

Which service provides the ability to backup and restore vSphere pods?

- A. Contour
- B. VKS
- C. Velero
- D. ArgoCD
- E. VM Service

Answer: C

Explanation:

Velero is the industry-standard and VMware-supported service integrated into VCF 9.0 for the backup and restoration of Kubernetes-based workloads, specifically vSphere Pods and persistent volumes. Within the VCF Automation framework, Velero is often deployed as part of the Supervisor services or within TKG clusters to provide data protection for stateful applications. It captures the state of the Kubernetes API objects (such as Pod specs and Secrets) and triggers snapshots of the underlying vSphere storage (via the Cloud Native Storage/CNS driver) to ensure that workloads can be recovered in the event of a cluster failure or accidental deletion. While other services like ArgoCD handle continuous delivery and VKS handles cluster lifecycle, only Velero is dedicated to the operational task of disaster recovery and migration of containerized resources within the vSphere Supervisor environment.

NEW QUESTION # 24

A Provider administrator received a technical requirement mandating the use of Identity Providers (IdP) in place of local accounts.

The following requirements were defined:

- * The source directory service must be different between the Provider Management Portal and Organizations.
- * The Organization administrators cannot modify the identity provider configuration.

What two requirements should the administrator configure? (Choose two.)

- A. Ensure that "Do not use LDAP" is configured for each organization's SSO.
- B. Setup custom LDAP service configuration per organization.
- C. Deploy an Identity Broker cluster per organization.
- D. Configure and publish a custom organization role for all organizations.
- E. Push the VCF Automation system LDAP service to all organizations.

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

VCF 9.0 Automation uses a decentralized identity architecture to support complex multi-tenant requirements.

To ensure that the Provider Management Portal and Organizations use different source directories (e.g., the provider uses a management AD while tenants use their own OIDC/SAML IdPs), the administrator must Deploy an Identity Broker cluster per organization. The Identity Broker acts as the localized gateway for authentication for that specific tenant. To prevent Organization administrators from modifying these settings- satisfying the second requirement-the provider must Ensure that "Do not use LDAP" is configured for the organization's standard SSO settings. This configuration forces the organization to rely exclusively on the broker-mediated IdP managed at the provider level, effectively "locking" the identity configuration and preventing local tenant admins from reverting to a manual LDAP setup that might bypass corporate security policies or the centralized identity strategy.

NEW QUESTION # 25

A vSphere administrator has created a new vSphere storage policy, labeled Gold Tier, mapped to some new NVMe-backed datastores.

The VMware Cloud Foundation (VCF) Automation administrator is tasked to permit access to this new storage type for consumers of a PerformanceTest Project in an AllApps organization named Engineering.

What must be done within VCFA to accomplish the task?

- A. Create a new VMApps Organization for Engineering and ensure the Gold Tier vSphere storage policy is selected for new projects.
- B. Add the Storage Class backed by the Gold Tier storage policy to a Supervisor Namespace Class and bind that Namespace Class to the PerformanceTest Project.
- C. Configure a Day-2 policy on the PerformanceTest project to enforce Gold Tier as the preferred storage.
- D. Create a new Zone in VCF Automation, select the Gold Tier vSphere storage policy, and assign the Zone to the PerformanceTest Project.

Answer: B

Explanation:

In an AllApps (AllApps) organization, resource entitlement follows the Supervisor-native path. To provide access to the "Gold Tier" storage, the VCF Automation administrator must first ensure the vSphere storage policy is recognized as a Storage Class by the Supervisor. The correct operational step is to Add the Storage Class backed by the Gold Tier policy to a Supervisor Namespace Class. The Namespace Class acts as the policy engine that governs what resources are "allow-listed" for the tenant. Once the Namespace Class is configured with the Gold Tier storage class, the administrator must bind that Namespace Class to the PerformanceTest Project. This makes the high-performance NVMe storage visible and available for use by the users within that specific project, allowing them to select it when deploying stateful applications or persistent volumes, without affecting other projects or organizations.

NEW QUESTION # 26

What are two prerequisites to enable provisioning VMs via kubectl against tenant resources? (Choose two.)

- A. Create a context via kubectl.
- B. Create a new extensibility Action.
- C. Create a context via VCF CLI.
- D. Generate an API token from the VCF Automation UI.
- E. Ask the Provider to generate a token via the system APIs.

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

In VCF 9.0, the AllApps (AllApps) organization model allows users to interact with infrastructure using Kubernetes-native tools like kubectl. To establish this connection, the user must first Generate an API token from the VCF Automation UI. This token provides the necessary authentication context for the specific organization and project the user belongs to. Once the token is obtained, the user must use the VCF CLI (vcf- cli) to create a context. The VCF CLI is the specialized tool that bridges the gap between the VCF Automation API and the local kubeconfig file. By running the login command within the VCF CLI, a specialized context is injected into the user's kubectl configuration, mapping the local environment to the remote Supervisor Namespace and its associated VPC resources. This allows developers to use standard kubectl apply commands to provision virtual machines and other resources directly into their assigned tenant space.
