NEW QUESTION # 42

Refer to the exhibit. An engineer is troubleshooting an issue with switch LEAF-SW-11. The engineer observes that several main servers on the VXLAN BGP EVPN Multi-Site network experience 50-60% packet loss inbound and outbound, and all the DCI tracking interfaces are down. Which two actions must be taken to resolve the issue? (Choose two.)

- A. On the Nexus switch, run the `ip access-list permit ip address 172.16.2.200` command.
- B. On LEAF-SW-11, enable the `multisite ingress-replication` command for the L2VNI of VLAN 11.
- C. On LEAF-SW-11, run the `inner ipv4 src_ip 172.16.2.200` command against module-1.
- D. On the Nexus switch, run the `inner ipv4 dst_ip 172.16.2.200` command against module-1.
- E. On LEAF-SW-11, run the `evpn multisite dci-tracking` command against interface Eth1/1.

Answer: B,E

Explanation:

In a VXLAN BGP EVPN Multi-Site environment:

- * DCI tracking monitors the health of the DCI links. If all DCI-tracking interfaces go down, the leaf can incorrectly keep advertising or learning remote MAC/IP reachability, leading to packet loss and sub-optimal forwarding for servers in that VLAN/L2VNI.

- * For proper operation, each DCI-facing interface must be enabled with `evpn multisite dci-tracking` so that the Multi-Site border leaf tracks reachability over that link.

- * When using EVPN Multi-Site, BUM (broadcast, unknown unicast, multicast) traffic toward remote sites is typically handled via ingress replication, not multicast groups, for each L2VNI participating in Multi-Site. The configuration snippet shows an L2VNI (vn-segment 16535) still mapped to mcast-group 239.1.1.0, which is inconsistent with Multi-Site recommendations and contributes to packet loss.

Therefore, to fix the problem:

- * Enable DCI tracking on the uplink:

- * interface Ethernet1/1

- * `evpn multisite dci-tracking`

This restores proper DCI-link state monitoring for Multi-Site. #Option C

- * Change the L2VNI behavior from multicast to Multi-Site ingress replication:

Under the VNI for VLAN 11, configure:

```
evpn
```

```
vni 16535 l2
```

```
multisite ingress-replication
```

or the equivalent command for the specific NX-OS release, thereby aligning the L2VNI with EVPN Multi-Site design and eliminating packet loss. #Option D Options A and B are ELAM (embedded logic analyzer) filters used only for packet capture and do not resolve the forwarding issue.

Option E is an ACL line unrelated to EVPN VXLAN or DCI tracking and does not address the underlying problem.
