NEW QUESTION # 641

In a small organization, management is unable to achieve adequate segregation of duties for its cash-handling procedures. Therefore, hidden surveillance cameras were installed to monitor cash-handling activities. Which of the following best describes this type of control?

- A. Process-level control
- B. Corrective control
- C. Compensating control
- D. Preventive control

Answer: C

Explanation:

In a small organization where management cannot achieve adequate segregation of duties for its cash-handling procedures, installing hidden surveillance cameras to monitor these activities is an example of a compensating control. Compensating controls are alternative measures implemented to mitigate risk when primary controls (such as segregation of duties) cannot be fully achieved. These controls help maintain security and oversight despite limitations in the control environment. Internal control frameworks and best practices.

NEW QUESTION # 642

An organization is beginning to implement an enterprise risk management program. One of the first steps is to develop a common risk language. Which of the following statements about a common risk language is true?

- A. Stakeholders will have more assurance that the risks are assessed consistently.
- B. Internal auditors will be able to reduce their sample sizes because controls will be more consistent.
- C. Decision makers will understand that the likelihood of missing or ineffective controls will be reduced.
- D. Management will be able to reduce inherent risk because they will have a better understanding of risk.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 643

According to NA guidance, which of the following provides the best evidence of conformance with the Standards with respect to the proficiency required of the internal audit activity?

- A. A listing of employee profiles and certifications.

- B. Inquiry of external auditors.
- C. Validation by human resources.
- D. Discussions with the chief audit executive.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The best evidence of conformance with the Standards concerning the proficiency required of the internal audit activity would be a listing of employee profiles and certifications. This documentation provides concrete evidence of the knowledge, skills, and competencies of the internal audit staff, ensuring that they meet the requirements set forth by the professional standards and are capable of performing their duties effectively.

This also aligns with the Standards' requirement for the internal audit activity to possess the knowledge, skills, and other competencies needed to perform its responsibilities.
