          </batch:transform> </batch:step>
      </batch:process-records>
    </batch:job>
  </flow>
```

Option A : [10, 20, 30, 40, 50, 60]
Option B : [10, 20][30, 40][50, 60]
Option C : [20, 40, 60]
Option D : [20, 40][60]

Correct Answer: D

Explanation/Reference:

- * Batch scope has filter criteria which says payload mod 2 = 0 which means only 2, 4 and 6 will be in batch scope.
- * So payload for each of these will be incremented by 10.
- * Aggregator has batch size defined as 2. So it will process in batch of two records.
- * Hence option 3 is correct answer.

[20,40]

問題 #207

A Utility.dwl is located in a Mule project at src/main/resources/modules. The Utility.dwl file defines a function named encryptString that encrypts a String. What is the correct DataWeave to call the encryptString function in a Transform Message component?

- A. 1. %dw 2.0. output application/json. import modules::Utility. ---5. Utility.encryptString("John Smith")
- B. 1. %dw 2.0. output application/json. import modules::Utility. ---5. Utility::encryptString("John Smith")
- C. 1. %dw 2.0. output application/json. import modules::Utility. ---5. encryptString("John Smith")
- D. 1. %dw 2.0. output application/json. import modules::Utility. ---5. encryptString("John Smith")

答案: D

解題說明:

Correct answer is

```
%dw 2.0
```

```
output application/json
```

```
import modules::Utility
```

```
---
```

```
Utility::encryptString( "John Smith" )

DataWeave 2.0 functions are packaged in modules. Before you begin, note that DataWeave 2.0 is for Mule 4apps. For Mule 3 apps, refer to DataWeave Operators in the Mule 3.9 documentation. For other Mule versions, you can use the version selector for the Mule Runtime table of contents.

Functions in the Core (dw::Core) module are imported automatically into your DataWeave scripts. To use other modules, you need to import the module or functions you want to use by adding the import directive to the head of your DataWeave script, for example:

import dw::core::Strings
```

```
import camelize, capitalize from dw::core::Strings
```

```
import * from dw::core::Strings
```

The way you import a module impacts the way you need to call its functions from a DataWeave script. If the directive does not list specific functions to import or use * from to import all functions from a function module, you need to specify the module when you call the function from your script. For example, this import directive does not identify any functions to import from the String module, so it calls the pluralize function like this: Strings::pluralize("box").

```
Transform
```

```
%dw 2.0
```

```
import dw::core::Strings
```

```
output application/json
```

```
---
```

```
{ 'plural': Strings::pluralize("box") }
```
