Medical Tests American Academy of Professional Coders: Certified Professional Coder Sample Questions (Q127-Q132):

NEW QUESTION # 127
The CPT code 76805 requires that multiple elements of the exam be documented, such as the evaluation of the amniotic fluid, umbilical cord insertion site, and placental location. If the provider documents most elements, he/she can bill the CPT code 76805.

- A. False
- B. True

Answer: A

Explanation:
The statement is false. Per ICD-IO-CM, "Results must be documented in the report for each of the elements described in the code description." If the provider does not document a given element, they must include a reason for non-visualization for the CPT to be reported.

NEW QUESTION # 128
A patient receives a positron emission technology (PET) scan at rest, where a metabolic evaluation study, including ventricular wall motion was performed using PET imaging. A computed tomography (CT) was performed at the same time. What CPT code(s) should the radiologist report?

- A. 78429, 76497-59
- B. 0
- C. 78430, 76497-59
- D. 1

Answer: D

Explanation:
PET scans are reported using CPT codes 78429-78434. The documentation specifies that a metabolic study was performed versus a perfusion study, thus eliminating answers B and D. A CT scan is included in the description of CPT 78429, thus making it unable to be separately reportable.

NEW QUESTION # 129
A patient with a stab wound to the chest was taken to the operating room and put under general anesthesia for a thoracotomy. The anesthesiologist should report CPT 00520 with the total number of time units spent providing face-to-face care with the patient.

- A. False
- B. True

Answer: A

Explanation:
The statement is false. CPT 00520 is anesthesia services for closed-chest procedures.
However, a thoracotomy is an open procedure involving a surgical incision to the chest wall. The correct CPT code that should be reported is 00540 (anesthesia for thoracotomy procedures involving lungs, pleura, diaphragm, and mediastinum).

NEW QUESTION # 130
Which patient is receiving critical care services?

- A. A 93 -year-old male is admitted to the intensive care unit for monitoring after a coronaryangioplasty procedure that was performed to relieve symptoms of atherosclerosis.
- B. A 60-year-old male is admitted with an acute chronic heart failure exacerbation causinghypoxic respiratory failure. The patient is intubated, sedated, and started on 50 mg ofertapenem for a potential lung infection.
- C. A 47 -year-old female with a history of unrepaired chronic heart disease and anemia has anoxygen saturation level of 80. She is put on a nasal cannula and given a blood transfusion toimprove her oxygen-carrying capacity and oxygen saturation level.
- D. A 67 -year-old female receives chronic ventilator therapy after a cerebral infarction thatcaused hemorrhage in the brain.

Answer: B

Explanation:
CPT guidelines define critical care as an illness or injury that acutely impairs one or more vital organ systems, where there is a high probability of imminent or life-threatening deterioration in the patients condition. Additionally, to report a critical care service, the documentation should provide evidence of high-complexity medical decision-making (e.gendotracheal tube insertion, defibrillation, fluid administration for shock, Narcan, etc.). Answer B is the only option listed that contains documentation to support critical care services.
This male patient has Vyvo life-threatening conditions, in which emergent intervention is provided to prevent further deterioration. In ansvver A the female patient may have a life-threatening condition: however, administering oxygen via a nasal cannula and/or transfusing blood does not qualify as critical care. Management of a patient who receives chronic ventilator therapy is also not considered critical care because the medical decision-making involved in the therapy is quite low.
The care a patient receives after having surgery would be considered routine and postoperative, regardless of where they are sent, unless a complication arises in which one or more of the vital organ systems begins to deteriorate in a fashion that poses a threat to life.

NEW QUESTION # 131
A patient undergoes surgery with anesthesia and is arousable with painful stimulation. What is the level of sedation the patient MOST likely received?

- A. General anesthesia
- B. Moderate sedation
- C. Deep sedation
- D. Minimal sedation

Answer: C

Explanation:
Minimal, moderate, and deep sedation all allow the patient to undergo a procedure without pain and without being completely unconscious. If a patient receives minimal sedation, they are responsive after receiving verbal stimulation. Moderate sedation causes a patient to respond only after tactile stimulation. General anesthesia causes the patient to be completely unarousable, even with painful stimulation.
