CompTIA A+ Certification Exam: Core 2 Sample Questions (Q163-Q168):

NEW QUESTION # 163

A user's mobile phone has become sluggish. A systems administrator discovered several malicious applications on the device and reset the phone. The administrator installed MDM software. Which of the following should the administrator do to help secure the device against this threat in the future? (Select TWO).

- A. Prevent a device root
- B. Disable biometric authentication
- C. Block a third-party application installation
- D. Prevent GPS spoofing
- E. Require a PIN on the unlock screen
- F. Enable developer mode

Answer: C,E

NEW QUESTION # 164

An application user received an email indicating the version of the application currently in use will no longer be sold. Users with this version of the application will no longer receive patches or updates either. Which of the following indicates a vendor no longer supports a product?

- A. EOL
- B. AUP
- C. UAC
- D. EULA

Answer: A

Explanation:

EOL (end-of-life) is a term that indicates a vendor no longer supports a product. It means that the product will no longer be sold, updated or patched by the vendor, and that the users should migrate to a newer version or alternative product. AUP (acceptable use policy), EULA (end-user license agreement) and UAC (user account control) are not terms that indicate a vendor no longer supports a product. Verified References:

NEW QUESTION # 165

Which of the following commands should a technician use to change user permissions?

- A. pwd
- B. sudo
- C. mv
- D. chmod

Answer: D

Explanation:

The chmod command in Unix/Linux systems changes file and directory permissions, allowing a technician to control read, write, and execute rights for users and groups. sudo allows running commands with elevated privileges but doesn't directly change permissions. mv moves or renames files, and pwd prints the current working directory. Core 2 exam content covers basic Linux command-line utilities where chmod is essential for managing permissions to secure files and directories.

NEW QUESTION # 166

A technician thinks a customer's computer may have a malware infection and wants to determine whether the computer is in communication with any other machines. Which of the following commands should the technician use?

- A. tracert
- B. nslookup
- C. netstat
- D. net user
- E. net use

Answer: C

Explanation:

The netstat command displays active TCP/IP network connections on a computer. It shows current connections between the infected machine and any external IP addresses, which can help the technician detect communication with suspicious or malicious hosts. This is crucial in malware investigations to identify if the system is contacting command and control servers. tracert traces the path to a network host but doesn't show active connections. net use manages shared resources, net user manages user accounts, and nslookup resolves DNS names but doesn't show communication. Core 2 tools for network troubleshooting list netstat as vital for identifying network activity related to malware infections.

NEW QUESTION # 167

Welcome to your first day as a Fictional Company, LLC helpdesk employee. Please work the tickets in your helpdesk ticket queue. Click on individual tickets to see the ticket details. View attachments to determine the problem.

Select the appropriate issue from the 'issue' drop-down menu. Then, select the MOST efficient resolution from the 'Resolution' drop-down menu. Finally, select the proper command or verification to remediate or confirm your fix of the issue from the Verify/Resolve drop-down menu.

The screenshot shows a helpdesk interface. On the left, there is a 'TEST QUESTION' header and a welcome message: 'Welcome to your first day as a Fictional Company, LLC helpdesk employee. Please work the tickets in your helpdesk ticket queue.' Below this is an 'INSTRUCTIONS' section with the following text: 'Click on individual tickets to see the ticket details. View attachments to determine the problem. Select the appropriate issue from the Issue drop-down menu. Then, select the MOST efficient resolution from the Resolution drop-down menu. Finally, select the proper command or verification to remediate or confirm your fix of the issue from the Verify/Resolve drop-down menu. If at any time you would like to bring back the initial state of the simulation, please click the Reset All button.' The main area displays a table of tickets:
