Cisco Designing Cisco Enterprise Wireless Networks Sample Questions (Q197-Q202):

NEW QUESTION # 197

A university lecture hall has a Cisco wireless high-density network with this configuration:

- 5 GHz only
- 20-MHz channels
- UNII-1, UNII-2, and UNII2-E channels
- TPC minimum = 8
- TPC maximum = 14

The lecture hall is 200 feet by 100 feet and has 16 Cisco APs that use directional antennas.

Which feature must be included in the design to mitigate and reduce high-channel utilization from rogue APs?

- A. RxSOP
- B. DFS detection
- C. 802.11w
- D. band select

Answer: A

Explanation:

RxSOP allows the APs to ignore weaker signals, effectively reducing the impact of neighboring APs and potential rogue APs on the network. By adjusting RxSOP, APs can be made less sensitive to weak signals, which helps in reducing interference and improving overall network performance.

NEW QUESTION # 198

An enterprise is using the wireless network as the main network connection for corporate users and guests. To wireless network availability. Two Standalone controllers are installed in the head office. APs are connected to the controllers using a round-robin approach to load balance the traffic. After a power cut, the wireless clients disconnect while roaming. An engineer tried eping from the controller but fails. Which protocol needs to be allowed between the networks that the controllers are installed?

- A. IP Protocol 77
- B. IP Protocol 87
- C. IP Protocol 67
- D. IP Protocol 97

Answer: D

Explanation:

□

NEW QUESTION # 199

An engineer is performing a predictive wireless design for a medical treatment environment, which requires data and voice services. What is the minimum requirement for the design?

- A. continuous -67 dBm coverage from one access point
- B. continuous -72 dBm coverage from one access point
- C. overlapping -72 dBm coverage from two access points
- D. overlapping -67 dBm coverage from two access points

Answer: A

Explanation:

In a medical treatment environment where both data and voice services are required, continuous coverage of -67 dBm from one access point is the minimum requirement. This ensures that there is sufficient signal strength for reliable voice communication, which is critical in medical settings. The -67 dBm threshold is commonly recommended for voice applications to ensure call quality and reliability.

□

So -67dBm covers both Data & Voice with a single AP

NEW QUESTION # 200

An engineer is designing a new wireless network. Based on the design, OfficeExtend AP functionality must be used. Which type of license must the Cisco 5520 WLC v8.3 have?

- A. Plus license
- B. Base license
- C. WPlus license
- D. OfficeExtend AP license

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Cisco 5520 WLC v8.3 requires a base license to use OfficeExtend AP functionality, which allows remote workers to have the same wireless connectivity as they would in an office environment.

NEW QUESTION # 201

Refer to the exhibit.

What is the main reason why the Wi-Fi design engineer took a different approach than installing the APs in the offices, even though that installation provides better coverage?

- A. power supply considerations
- B. antenna gain
- C. transmit power considerations
- D. aesthetics

Answer: C

Explanation:

The decision to avoid installing APs directly in offices is likely due to transmit power considerations. Placing APs within offices could lead to excessive coverage for small areas, causing interference with other APs and reducing overall network performance. By placing them in common areas like corridors, engineers can ensure more uniform coverage across larger spaces while managing transmit power more effectively for optimal performance.
