NEW QUESTION # 97

Which two fields combine to create the Urgency of a notable event?

- A. Criticality and Severity.
- B. Precedence and Time.
- C. Priority and Criticality.
- D. Priority and Severity.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

The urgency of a notable event is a value that indicates how important or urgent the event is for investigation and response. The urgency of a notable event is determined by two fields: the priority and the severity. The priority is a value that is assigned to an asset or an identity based on how critical or valuable it is for the organization. The priority can be unknown, low, medium, high, or critical. The severity is a value that is assigned to a notable event based on how serious or harmful the event is for the security posture. The severity can be unknown, informational, low, medium, high, or critical. The urgency of a notable event is calculated by combining the priority and the severity values using a lookup table called urgency_lookup. The urgency can be informational, low, medium, high, or critical. You can use the urgency field to prioritize the investigation of notable events in Splunk Enterprise Security. NEW QUESTION # 98

Which Splunk ES feature automatically prioritizes notable events by predefined security risk scores?

- A. Risk-based alerting calculates cumulative entity risk from correlated detections.
- B. Data model acceleration improves search speed across indexed enterprise datasets.
- C. Adaptive response actions trigger automated remediation after notable event generation.
- D. Asset and identity correlation enriches events with contextual organizational metadata.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Risk-based alerting aggregates risk modifiers from multiple detections, helping analysts prioritize entities showing suspicious patterns instead of investigating isolated low-priority alerts individually.

NEW QUESTION # 99

What feature of Enterprise Security downloads threat intelligence data from a web server?

- A. Threat Intelligence Enforcement
- B. Threat Download Manager
- C. Threat Service Manager
- D. Threat Intelligence Parser

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

"The Threat Intelligence Framework provides a modular input (Threat Intelligence Downloads) that handles the majority of configurations typically needed for downloading intelligence files & data. To access this modular input, you simply need to create a stanza in your Inputs.conf file called "threatlist"."
