Questions (Q229-Q234):

NEW QUESTION # 229
During which design phase are interface specifications, database schemas, and component relationships determined?

- A. Logical design
- B. Conceptual design
- C. Detailed design
- D. Implementation design

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 230
An architect has designed a VMware Aria Operations for Logs cluster for an organization. Details of the cluster are provided below:
3-node VMware Aria Operations for Logs cluster to collect logs for an organization NFS storage is enabled for archival data Once the NFS storage is full, which will be the resulting scenario?

- A. VMware Aria Operations for Logs will automatically delete the oldest archived logs, resulting in archived data loss.
- B. VMware Aria Operations for Logs will stop ingesting new data and unless free space is available, loss of data will occur.
- C. VMware Aria Operations for Logs will further compress the archived logs to make more space available in NFS storage.
- D. VMware Aria Operations for Logs will send a notification and automatically disable log archiving.

Answer: B

Explanation:
When NFS storage for archival data is full, VMware Aria Operations for Logs will halt the ingestion of new logs into the archive until space is freed, which can result in data loss if not addressed.

NEW QUESTION # 231
An architect is responsible for designing a Cloud Management solution for a customer.
Which two constraints should the architect detail in the design for this customer? (Choose two.)

- A. The customer has invested in a third-party configuration management tool and this investment must be protected.
- B. The solution must support the existing VMware Software Defined Data Center, which has recently beenupgraded to VMware vSphere7.
- C. All management tools must be installed within the Management Zone.
- D. The solution should enable developers to deploy workloads using REST API.
- E. The solution should enable business users to deploy workloads to both the private and public cloud environments.

Answer: A,C

Explanation:
Constraints are limitations or restrictions that must be considered in the design, such as tool placement and the requirement to preserve investment in existing tools.

NEW QUESTION # 232
An architect is responsible for creating the design for Cloud Monitoring solution that will be used to monitor a VMware software-defined data center.
Given the information from the Service Owner, which two would be considered as non-functional requirements? (Choose two.)

- A. The solution must support a monthly availability target of 99.9%.
- B. The solution must support the ability to scale by 20 percent over the next five years.
- C. The solution must support the retention of live data for at least 12 months.
- D. The solution must support a Recovery Time Objective of four hours.
- E. The solution must support the monitoring of 2000 virtual machines across two physical data center locations.

Answer: A,B,D

Explanation:
Non-functional requirements define how a system should operate, such as its availability and recovery targets, rather than what the system should do (functional requirements).

NEW QUESTION # 233
An architect is designing a vRealize Log Insight cluster for an organization.
The organization has the following requirements:
- No requirement for archival data
- Support a log data retention period of 14 days
How will the log data be handled in this vRealize Log Insight cluster after the 14-day retention period?

- A. The user needs to manually select and delete specific old log messages to free up space.
- B. A variable sized chunk of old log messages is deleted to free up space based on the data age basis.
- C. Old log messages are automatically and periodically retired on a first-come-first-retired basis.
- D. Old log messages are automatically and periodically retired on least accessed basis.

Answer: C
