NEW QUESTION # 40

What is true about partitions? (select two)

- A. You cannot have more partitions than the number of brokers in your cluster
- B. A partition has one replica that is a leader, while the other replicas are followers
- C. A broker can have different partitions numbers for the same topic on its disk
- D. Only out of sync replicas are replicas, the remaining partitions that are in sync are also leader
- E. A broker can have a partition and its replica on its disk

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

Only one of the replicas is elected as partition leader. And a broker can definitely hold many partitions from the same topic on its disk, try creating a topic with 12 partitions on one broker!

NEW QUESTION # 41

You use Kafka Connect with the JDBC source connector to extract data from a large database and push it into Kafka.

The database contains tens of tables, and the current connector is unable to process the data fast enough.

You add more Kafka Connect workers, but throughput doesn't improve.

What should you do next?

- A. Increase the number of Kafka partitions for the topics.
- B. Modify the database schemas to enable horizontal sharding.
- C. Increase the value of the connector's property tasks.max.
- D. Add more Kafka brokers to the cluster.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Increasing tasks.max allows the connector to create multiple tasks, each responsible for processing different tables or table partitions.

If only one task is used, adding more workers has no effect.

From Kafka Connect JDBC Connector Docs:

"Use tasks.max to configure how many tasks are created for the connector. Each task can process a subset of the data."

* A and C help only if the bottleneck is in Kafka, not Connect.

* D is a large architectural change, not the first step.
