CIPS Managing Ethical Procurement and Supply (L5M5) Sample Questions (Q41-Q46):

NEW QUESTION # 41

Contracts contain different types of clauses. What is the name given to a clause that, if breached, allows damages but not termination of a contract?

- A. Warranty
- B. Representation
- C. Innominate term
- D. Condition

Answer: A

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract of Documents:

The L5M5 study guide (p.190) explains that a warranty is a contractual term where breach allows the injured party to claim damages, but the contract continues. By contrast, conditions are fundamental terms-breach may allow termination and damages. Representations are statements made in negotiation, not binding terms, and innominate terms may be treated as conditions or warranties depending on the breach. Understanding the difference is crucial for procurement professionals when drafting and managing contracts, as it affects remedies and supplier relationships.

NEW QUESTION # 42

Ruben is buying new machinery for his factory. He chooses a more expensive option after considering ESG factors. Why might this be?

- A. The more expensive item will be more environmentally friendly
- B. In terms of life-cycle costing, the more expensive item may be cheaper in the long term
- C. The higher-priced item is from a more reputable company
- D. The higher-priced item will be of better quality

Answer: B

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract of Documents:

Procurement often considers Whole Life Cycle Costing (WLCC) rather than upfront cost alone. The L5M5 study guide (p.7) explains that while a product may be more expensive initially, it may be cheaper in the long term due to lower maintenance costs, greater durability, and reduced energy use. This approach supports sustainability by balancing financial and environmental impacts. Options A, B, and D cannot be assumed from the scenario since no evidence supports them. WLCC ensures procurement delivers long-term value, aligning with sustainability goals.

NEW QUESTION # 43

A global manufacturing company is looking for a collaborative platform to enhance its environmental, social, and governance (ESG) practices. It requires access to practical tools, peer networking, and resources to tackle challenges such as climate change, water sustainability, and supply chain management.

Which organization would best meet the company's needs?

- A. Greenpeace
- B. International Procurement Organization (IPO)
- C. United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP)
- D. Global Environmental Management Initiative (GEMI)

Answer: D

Explanation:

Option B- GEMI is tailored for businesses seeking tools, resources, and collaborative opportunities to enhance their ESG practices. Unlike other options, GEMI specializes in corporate environmental management and provides solutions to the practical challenges companies face in their operations.

Incorrect answer:

Option A- The IPO primarily supports global procurement professionals and organizations in reducing & optimizing their procurement and supply chain strategies. While it may offer insights into sustainable procurement, it does not specialize in environmental or sustainability management across broader operational areas like GEMI does.

Option C- UNEP sets international environmental agendas and fosters policies at the government level, but it does not provide the practical tools and peer collaboration specifically tailored for businesses.

Option D- Greenpeace is an independent global campaigning organization focused on confronting environmental issues such as climate change, deforestation, and ocean protection through activism and advocacy. Its primary approach involves raising public awareness and pressuring corporations and governments to adopt environmentally friendly practices, rather than providing businesses with practical tools or platforms for internal sustainability improvements.

NEW QUESTION # 44

A company frequently ships high-value goods internationally, and the logistics team identifies a significant risk of financial loss due to potential cargo theft or damage during transit. To mitigate this risk, the company hires an external freight forwarder who provides insurance coverage and assumes full responsibility for the goods while in transit.

What is the most appropriate risk management strategy in this scenario?

- A. Terminate
- B. Tolerate
- C. Transfer
- D. Treat

Answer: C

Explanation:

Option B- By hiring the external freight forwarder with insurance coverage, the company shifts the responsibility and potential financial loss to a third party. Thus, the correct answer is B.

Incorrect answer:

Option A- "Treat" involves taking action to mitigate the risk internally. For example, the company could implement its own security measures, such as using GPS tracking, enhanced packaging, or employing in-house logistics staff. In this scenario, the company is not mitigating the risk itself but instead transferring the responsibility to the freight forwarder.

Option C- The risk of theft or damage is significant in this scenario, and ignoring it would likely result in substantial financial losses. Hence, tolerating the risk is not a viable strategy.

Option D- Terminating the activity is not practical for the business, as shipping goods internationally is likely critical to operations. Instead, transferring the risk to the freight forwarder is a more reasonable approach.

NEW QUESTION # 45

The Rampal Power Station, a 1320 MW coal-fired power plant, has recently faced accusations of poor health and safety standards in the workplace. Workers have reported being forced to work without safety masks, exposing them to air pollution. If Rampal Power Station fails to improve its health and safety standards, which of the following is the most likely primary consequence?

- A. Loss of reputation
- B. Complexity in calculating insurance coverage
- C. Destruction of the environment
- D. Acquisition of poor quality materials from suppliers

Answer: A

Explanation:

Choice B - Loss of reputation and damage to brand is a primary consequence of poor safety standards in the workplace for the power plant.

Incorrect answer:

Choice A - This option suggests that poor health and safety standards might lead to a decrease in the quality of materials sourced. While safety issues can affect worker performance and productivity, they do not directly relate to the quality of materials acquired from suppliers. Poor health and safety standards are more likely to impact employee morale and retention rather than the procurement process.

Choice C - Environmental effect is an indirect consequence for Rampal power plant but more so to the locals living there and natural habitat. If health and safety standards are not improved, it could lead to environmental issues, but this would be a broader consequence rather than a primary one related to workplace conditions.

Choice D-Although in cases of workers injury or death, calculating insurance would be complex, as not all injury and health related costs are covered by insurance, like sick pay, lost time, fines etc. But this is more of a secondary internal challenge and not a primary consequence of the power plant.
