SAP Certified Technology Consultant - SAP S/4HANA System Administration Sample Questions (Q51-Q56):

NEW QUESTION # 51

How does a Transport of Copies differ from a Workbench Request? Note: There are 2 correct answers to this question

- A. When creating the transport request, a target system without a consolidation route can be selected
- B. When importing, the transport request is not forwarded to subsequent delivery systems.
- C. After the import, repository objects in the target system are classified as copies
- D. No cofile is created, when releasing the transport request with the Transport Organizer (SE09).

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

A Transport of Copies is used in SAP systems to transport objects without the intention of them being part of a consistent change management process. Unlike Workbench Requests, which are meant for transporting development changes through the system landscape, Transports of Copies do not enforce a sequence and do not require a consolidation or delivery route. Therefore, when importing a Transport of Copies (C), it is not forwarded to subsequent systems in the landscape as a normal Workbench Request would be, allowing for more flexibility in transporting objects to specific systems without affecting the entire landscape. After the import (D), repository objects in the target system are classified as copies, emphasizing their nature as potentially temporary or test changes that are not part of the standard transport route, providing a clear distinction from objects transported via Workbench Requests.

- A. Instance profile of the Additional Application Server
- B. Instance profile of the Primary Application Server
- C. Default profile
- D. Instance profile of the Central Services instance

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

When restarting an Additional Application Server (AAS) instance, the system evaluates the following profiles in the following order: The default profile, which contains global parameters that apply to all instances of the SAP system. The default profile is located in the /usr/sap/<SID>/SYS/profile directory of the central instance host.

The instance profile of the AAS instance, which contains instance-specific parameters that override the default profile. The instance profile is located in the /usr/sap/<SID>/SYS/profile directory of the AAS instance host. The instance profile of the Primary Application Server (PAS) and the instance profile of the Central Services (CS) instance are not relevant for the AAS instance, as they contain parameters that apply only to their respective instances. Reference: [SAPTEC], Unit 3: SAP System Architecture, Lesson: SAP System Configuration, Slide 8-10; [ADM100], Unit 3: SAP System Architecture, Lesson: SAP System Configuration, Slide 8-10.
