CompTIA Data+ Exam Sample Questions (Q47-Q52):

NEW QUESTION # 47

A manager wants to use the information in a recurring report on incomplete timesheets for the prior month to guide employee outreach. Which of the following report types is the best for this task?

- A. Snapshot
- B. Infographic
- C. Summary
- D. Ad hoc

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 48

A data analyst is reviewing a new data source that contains employee IDs, job titles, dates of birth, addresses, years of service, and employees' birth months. Which of the following inconsistencies should the analyst identify?

- A. Duplication
- B. Completeness
- C. Redundancy
- D. Outliers

Answer: C

Explanation:

Redundancy occurs when the same information can be derived from other data already present in the dataset. Since the data source contains both dates of birth and employees' birth months, the birth month is redundant because it can be extracted directly from the date of birth.

NEW QUESTION # 49

A data analyst receives the following sales data for a convenience store:

Item
Quantity

Chocolate Bars

$1.99
Vanilla Ice Bars
2
$4.99
Chocolate Wafers
6
$0.99
Peanut Butter
2
$2.99

3

Strawberry Jam
3
$4.99
Chocolate Cake

The analyst needs to provide information on the products that contain chocolate. Which of the following RegEx should the analyst use to filter the chocolate products?

- A. %Chocolate&
- B. Chocolate!
- C. Chocolate$
- D. #Chocolate#$

Answer: C

Explanation:

This question falls under the Data Acquisition and Preparation domain, which includes techniques for manipulating and filtering data, such as using regular expressions (RegEx) to identify specific patterns in text data. The task is to filter items containing the word "Chocolate."

* Chocolate! (Option A): In RegEx, "!" is not a valid pattern for matching a word like "Chocolate." It typically denotes negation in some contexts, but here it's incorrect.

* Chocolate$ (Option B): The "$" in RegEx anchors the pattern to the end of the string, meaning it matches "Chocolate" at the end of an item name (e.g., "Milk Chocolate"). This is the most appropriate pattern for identifying items ending with "Chocolate," which applies to the relevant items in the list.

* %Chocolate& (Option C): "%" and "&" are not standard RegEx anchors; they're often used in SQL LIKE patterns, not RegEx, making this incorrect.

* #Chocolate#$ (Option D): "#" is not a standard RegEx anchor, and this pattern would look for "Chocolate" surrounded by "#", which doesn't match the data.

The DA0-002 Data Acquisition and Preparation domain includes "executing data manipulation", and RegEx is a common technique for filtering text data. The pattern "Chocolate$" correctly identifies items like

"Chocolate Bars," "Chocolate Wafers," "Chocolate Cake," and "Milk Chocolate." Reference: CompTIA Data+ DA0-002 Draft Exam Objectives, Domain 2.0 Data Acquisition and Preparation

NEW QUESTION # 50

Which of the following data repositories stores unaltered data?

- A. Data factory
- B. Data lake
- C. Data table
- D. Data warehouse

Answer: B

Explanation:

A data lake stores raw, unaltered data in its native format, including structured, semi-structured, and unstructured data. This allows organizations to retain data as originally collected and transform it later when needed for analysis.

NEW QUESTION # 51

Which of the following situations best describes an unclear and inconsistent column definition that can lead to an enabled analysis process?

- A. Out-of-date dashboard
- B. Undefined field
