- D. Business Continuity

Answer: D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed 250-300 Words Explanation From Exact Extract from Chief Information Security Officer (CCISO) Documents:

According to the EC-Council CCISO Body of Knowledge, Business Continuity is the organizational function responsible for collecting, documenting, and communicating processes required to ensure the recovery of critical business functions following a disruption.

CCISO documentation explains that Business Continuity focuses on people, processes, facilities, and workflows, ensuring that essential services continue or resume within acceptable timeframes. This includes developing Business Continuity Plans (BCPs), conducting Business Impact Analyses (BIAs), and coordinating recovery strategies across departments.

Disaster Recovery is a subset of Business Continuity and focuses primarily on IT systems and infrastructure recovery, not the broader business processes. Security Operations manages day-to-day threat monitoring, while legal advisement supports compliance and legal matters.

CCISO materials emphasize that effective Business Continuity requires cross-functional coordination and clear communication so that employees understand their roles during disruptions.

Therefore, Business Continuity is the correct answer.
