Candidates must also demonstrate their knowledge of data modeling, user experience design, security, and integration with other Microsoft solutions. Successful candidates will have a thorough understanding of the Power Platform's capabilities and be able to apply them to real-world scenarios. The Microsoft PL-200 certification is an excellent way for functional consultants to differentiate themselves in the job market and demonstrate their expertise in Microsoft Power Platform solutions.

Microsoft PL-200 Exam is a stepping stone for candidates who want to demonstrate their skills and competencies in working with the Microsoft Power Platform. PL-200 exam evaluates the candidate's ability to build, configure and extend the functionalities of the platform and their understanding of business requirements and workflows. It's a convenient and valuable tool for solution builders, citizen developers and project managers to create effective and functional business applications.

Microsoft Power Platform Functional Consultant Sample Questions (Q283-Q288):

NEW QUESTION # 283

A company creates a bot by using Power Virtual Agents.

The company requires the bot to transfer callers to an agent if the bot is unable to recognize a customer's request.

You need to configure the bot for the unrecognized information from the customer.

Which feature should you use?

- A. Fallback topic
- B. Fallback workstream
- C. Fallback entity
- D. Fallback skill
- E. Fallback queue

Answer: A

Explanation:

A Fallback topic is a type of topic in Power Virtual Agents that is used when the bot is unable to understand the customer's request. When a Fallback topic is triggered, it takes over the conversation and presents the customer with a set of options or a message that allows them to get the help they need. This can include options such as requesting to speak with an agent, providing feedback, or getting more information about the bot's capabilities. Fallback topic can be configured to automatically transfer the customer to an agent.
