Nutanix Certified Professional - End User Computing (NCP-EUC) 6.10 Exam Sample Questions (Q26-Q31):

NEW QUESTION # 26
By default, Prism Central provides 18 predefined system report configurations that address common use cases and requirements of an organization's infrastructure management.
What is a valid action for predefined report configurations?

- A. Delete
- B. Export
- C. Schedule
- D. Edit

Answer: C

Explanation:
According to the Prism Central Guide regarding Reporting, predefined system reports (such as Cluster Efficiency, Environment Summary, etc.) are built-in templates provided by Nutanix. The documentation explicitly states that while administrators can view and run these reports, they cannot delete or modify (Edit) the structure of these predefined reports directly.
However, the valid action an administrator can perform on a predefined report is to Schedule it. Scheduling allows the report to run automatically at specified intervals and email the results to recipients. If modification is required, the administrator must first clone the predefined report to create a custom copy, which can then be edited; the original remains locked.

NEW QUESTION # 27
An administrator is planning an AHV environment using AOS 6.10. It will need to support 4,000 desktops with 16GB of RAM each (64TB of RAM). The business wants to minimize operational overhead and optimize hardware resources. Each cluster must be able to tolerate a node failure while supporting all of its VMs.
What would be best configuration?

- A. Four clusters with 18-nodes and 1TB of RAM in each node
- B. Two clusters with 32-nodes and 1TB of RAM in each node
- C. Four clusters with 18-nodes each and 1.5TB of RAM in each node
- D. Two clusters with 32-nodes and 1.5TB RAM of in each node

Answer: D

Explanation:
To meet the requirements of minimizing operational overhead and optimizing hardware resources while ensuring N+1 availability, Option B is the optimal design.
* Operational Overhead: Managing two clusters (Option B) creates significantly less administrative burden (upgrades, lifecycle management, failure domains) than managing four clusters (Options C and D).
* Resource Optimization & Availability:
* Total Load: 64TB of RAM (4,000 VMs * 16GB).
* Option B (Correct): 2 Clusters × 32 Nodes = 64 Total Nodes.
* Per Cluster: 32 nodes × 1.5TB = 48TB Total RAM.
* Required RAM per cluster (2,000 VMs): 32TB.
* N+1 Check: If 1 node fails, available RAM is 46.5TB. (46.5TB > 32TB required). This validates redundancy with fewer physical nodes (64) compared to Option D (72 nodes).
* Option A: Fails N+1. (32 nodes × 1TB = 32TB. If 1 node fails, 31TB available < 32TB required).
* Option D: Uses 72 nodes (higher hardware count/cost) and 4 clusters (higher overhead), making it less optimal than B.

NEW QUESTION # 28
Where should an administrator configure AWS, Azure, and Google accounts within Frame?

- A. Customers
- B. accounts
- C. Organizations
- D. Cloud Account

Answer: D

Explanation:
Frame is a cloud-native desktop-as-a-service platform that delivers virtual apps and desktops from multiple public clouds1. Frame allows administrators to manage various components of their cloud accounts easily from the Frame console1.
A cloud account is a logical grouping of resources that are associated with a specific cloud provider (such as AWS, Azure, or Google) and region1. A cloud account can have multiple virtual networks, master images, and instance types that can be used to create and run virtual apps and desktops1.
To configure AWS, Azure, and Google accounts within Frame, an administrator needs to go to the Cloud Accounts section of the Frame console1. There, the administrator can add new cloud accounts or edit existing ones by providing the required credentials and settings for each cloud provider12.

NEW QUESTION # 29

An administrator needs to configure a license server to be accessible by Frame desktops.
Which server should the administrator configure?

- A. Azure VM Instance
- B. utility Server
- C. EC2 VM Instance
- D. Sandbox

Answer: B

Explanation:
Frame is a cloud-based desktop-as-a-service platform that allows users to access Windows applications and desktops from any device1. A license server is a server that hosts a network licensing manager for software that requires licenses to run2. Frame supports using a utility server as a license server for Frame desktops1. A utility server is a stand-alone, general purpose Windows server that can be configured and managed from the Frame dashboard1.

NEW QUESTION # 30

A company is deploying a Nutanix VDI solution across multiple data centers and will be using Files for their profile\home directories.
The company requires that users be able to access profile\home from a local Files cluster at the designated data center they will be logging into, based on the location they are working out of that day.
How can the administrator ensure that the solution meets the stated requirements?

- A. use Nutanix Protection Domains for replication.
- B. use PeerSync software to replicate.
- C. use Nutanix Advanced File Replication
- D. use Zetro software to replicate

Answer: C

Explanation:
Nutanix Files offers a feature called Smart DR, which enables share-level replication between active file server instances for disaster recovery.
Smart DR allows administrators to configure replication policies for each share, such as replication interval, retention period, and bandwidth limit.
Smart DR also supports failover and failback operations between source and target file servers in case of a disaster.
According to Nutanix best practices1, Smart DR is suitable for scenarios where users need to access their files from different locations or data centers.
