UiPath Certified Professional Agentic Automation Associate (UiAAA) Sample Questions (Q23-Q28):

NEW QUESTION # 23

When you want a connector field value to be inferred dynamically at run time, which input method should you select in the activity tool?

- A. Argument
- B. Static value
- C. Prompt
- D. Clear value

Answer: A

Explanation:

The correct answer is D- selecting "Argument" allows a field value in an activity (such as a connector or tool call) to be dynamically inferred at runtime, based on variables, agent state, or previous node outputs.

UiPath Autopilot™ and Studio Web use the "Argument" option in activity configuration to pass dynamic values, especially in agentic workflows where:

- * Outputs of one step must inform inputs of the next
- * Contextual reasoning or prompt outputs need to feed tool parameters
- * Escalation decisions or classifications affect API calls or record updates This is fundamental in making agent behavior adaptive and responsive to user context- a key trait of UiPath's agentic orchestration layer.

Other options:

- * A (Static value) is hardcoded
- * B (Clear value) wipes any existing input
- * C (Prompt) is used when engaging the LLM, not connectors

NEW QUESTION # 24

A developer is implementing a few-shot structured prompt for an email classification task. The prompt includes examples of email subjects labeled with their respective classifications, such as "Spam" or "Work." What is the most important aspect to consider when selecting examples for the prompt?

- A. Always use more than 10 examples, regardless of task complexity.
- B. Use random and unrelated examples to test the prompt's robustness.
- C. Choose examples that are diverse, relevant, and typical of the task's expected input.
- D. Include examples with intentionally incorrect labels to improve training.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The correct answer is C- the most critical aspect of designing a few-shot prompt in UiPath's LLM-driven agent framework is selecting examples that are diverse, representative, and relevant to the actual data the agent will encounter in production.

In a few-shot structured prompt, examples are used to demonstrate a pattern the model should follow.

UiPath recommends:

- * Using realistic examples from actual user inputs or support tickets
- * Covering edge cases or variations in phrasing and tone
- * Matching the desired output structure exactly (e.g., Input: ..., Output: ...) These patterns help the LLM infer the task correctly and maintain consistency, especially when processing unstructured inputs like email subjects.

Option A is incorrect - introducing incorrect labels degrades performance and adds confusion.

B is wrong - the number of examples depends on the task complexity and token budget. Sometimes 3-5 is ideal.

D undermines task alignment - random examples reduce accuracy and coherence.

UiPath's Prompt Engineering best practices prioritize grounded, contextually rich inputs, particularly when automating classification tasks like spam detection, triage, or intent recognition. High-quality, task-aligned examples lead to more reliable, human-like agents.

NEW QUESTION # 25

Which similarity search function is leveraged when Context Grounding is used by UiPath Products like Agents?

- A. Softmax similarity search
- B. Cosine similarity search
- C. Sigmoid similarity search
- D. ReLu similarity search

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 26

What steps must be completed when creating evaluations from scratch for a new evaluation set in UiPath?

- A. The evaluation set can only be created using imported JSON data from previous evaluations of other agents.
- B. Add a name to the evaluation set, provide input values and expected output, save each evaluation, and assign evaluators before running the evaluation set.

- C. Once the evaluation set is created, all included evaluations are automatically scored based only on input values and expected outputs.
- D. Assign evaluators immediately after creating the new evaluation set name, then configure inputs and expected outputs later.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Bis correct - creating a new evaluation set in UiPath involves a multi-step process designed to enable qualitative and quantitative review of agent behavior.

Steps include:

- * Naming the evaluation set
- * Adding input prompts and expected outputs
- * Saving each test item (often called "evaluations")
- * Assigning evaluators, who will manually or automatically score the results This process enable stable, repeatable evaluation of agent behavior before deployment - ensuring the model produces correct, useful, and safe outputs.

Options A and C are incorrect:

- * A reverses the order: inputs and expected outputs are needed before evaluators.
- * C is false - evaluation sets can be built from scratch. D implies scoring is automatic, but human reviewers or comparison logic are often required for nuanced evaluations.

This aligns with UiPath's best practices in agent validation and post-deployment assurance.

NEW QUESTION # 27

Which of the following is a benefit of UiPath-built agents?

- A. They are limited to handling structured workflows only.
- B. They cannot integrate with UiPath Orchestrator.
- C. They require extensive coding expertise for development.
- D. They allow for quick agent creation using a low-code development application.

Answer: D

Explanation:

D is correct - a major advantage of UiPath-built agents is their low-code creation model, which allows business users and developers to quickly create, test, and deploy agents.

Key points from UiPath's Agentic Automation platform:

Agents are built in Studio Web, using a drag-and-drop UI and agent designer canvas.

Low-code tools allow teams to design agent prompts, behavior logic, tool connections, and escalations without deep programming skills.

Agents integrate with UiPath Orchestrator for full lifecycle management.

UiPath's low-code stack is designed to:

Lower the barrier to AI adoption

Accelerate time-to-value

Allow cross-functional teams to collaborate on intelligent automation

Options A and B are incorrect - agents support both structured and unstructured workflows, and fully integrate with Orchestrator.

C is false - low-code is a core value prop.
