Microsoft Power Platform Developer Sample Questions (Q87-Q92):

NEW QUESTION # 87

A company is building a new model-driven app.

The app must integrate with a number of on-premises and cloud solutions. No VPNs are in place.

You need to determine the method for each integration.

Which methods should you use? To answer, select the appropriate options in the answer area.

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

Box 1: Webhook

With Dataverse, you can send data about events that occur on the service to a web app by using webhooks. A webhook is a lightweight HTTP pattern for connecting web APIs and services with a publish-and-subscribe model. Webhook senders notify receivers about events by making requests to receiver endpoints with some information about the events.

Webhooks enable developers and ISVs to integrate Dataverse data with their own custom code hosted on external services.

Box 2: Azure Service Bus

Service Bus provides a secure and reliable communication channel between Dataverse runtime data and external, cloud-based line-of-business apps. This capability is especially useful in keeping disparate Dataverse systems or other Dataverse servers synchronized with business data changes.

Box 3: Azure Event hub

Azure Event Hubs is a big data streaming platform and event ingestion service. It can receive and process millions of events per second. Data sent to an event hub can be transformed and stored by using any real-time analytics provider or batching/storage adapters.

Note: The most popular approaches in Dataverse involve webhooks, Azure messaging (Service Bus, Event Hubs), Azure Logic Apps, or Power Automate.

NEW QUESTION # 88

A company uses Dynamics 365 Sales and the Microsoft Online Services portal.

The multi-select OptionSet field data type is not supported in the portal.

You need to copy the selected field value to the text field.

How should you configure the Organization service request? To answer, select the appropriate options in the answer area.

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation

Box 1: Yes

If you are creating an attribute editor you will need to retrieve entity data that has been saved but not published. For other scenarios you will want to only retrieve published metadata.

* Set this value to true to include unpublished changes, as it would look if you called publish.

* Set this value to false to include only the currently published changes, ignoring the changes that haven't yet been published.

Box 2: AttributeMetadata

AttributeMetadata class is returned in the RetrieveAttributeResponse.

NEW QUESTION # 89

A company is creating a new system based on the Common Data Service (CDS).

You need to select the CDS features that meet the company's requirements.

Which features should you select? To answer, drag the appropriate features to the correct requirements. Each feature may be used once, more than once, or not at all. You may need to drag the split bar between panes or scroll to view content.

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation

1. Parental : Any action taken on a record of the parenttable is also taken on the related child table records.

2. Cascade user owned: Perform the action on all referencing entity records owned by the same user as the referenced entity.

3. Referential: Any related records can be navigated to, and actions taken on one will not affect the other.

NEW QUESTION # 90

You are creating a business process flow for an organization's Request for Quote process.

You need to ensure that the business process flow meets the company's requirements.

Which components should you use? To answer, drag the appropriate components to the correct requirements.

Each component may be used once, more than once, or not at all. You may need to drag the split bar between panes to scroll to view content. Select the appropriate options in the answer area.

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

Answer:

Explanation:

□ Explanation

□ Box 1: Step

Each step represents a field where data can be entered.

Stages tell you where you are in the process, while steps are action items that lead to a desired outcome.

□ Box 2: Branching condition

You can enhance a business process flow with branching. If you have the create permissions on business process flows, you'll be able to create business process flow with multiple branches by using the If-Else logic.

□ Box 3: Stage

Each stage contains a group of steps.

NEW QUESTION # 91

As part of the month-end financial closing process, a company uses a batch job to copy all orders into a staging database.

The staging database is used to calculate any outstanding amounts owed by clients, and must process all historical data.

You need to ensure that only the data affected during the month is included in the integration process.

What are two possible ways to achieve this goal? Each correct answer presents a complete solution.

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

- A. Use change tracking on the order lines and run the integration every week and retrieve only the order lines that have been created or deleted in the last month.
- B. Create a system view with the order lines that have the Modified On field in the last month and run the integration on this subset.
- C. Create a system view with the orders that have the Modified On field in the last month and run the integration on this subset.
- D. Use change tracking on the orders and run the integration to retrieve new orders and the orders that have the total amount changed in the last month.

Answer: A,B

Explanation:

C: The change tracking feature in Microsoft Dataverse provides a way to keep the data synchronized in an efficient manner by detecting what data has changed since the data was initially extracted or last synchronized.

Deletions and creations are tracked.

D: On modified Order Lines, not on Modified Orders.
