CompTIA CAS-005 Exam Syllabus Topics:

Topic	Details
Topic 1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Security Engineering: This section measures the skills of CompTIA security architects that involve troubleshooting common issues related to identity and access management (IAM) components within an enterprise environment. Candidates will analyze requirements to enhance endpoint and server security while implementing hardware security technologies. This domain also emphasizes the importance of advanced cryptographic concepts in securing systems.</li> </ul>
Topic 2	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Security Operations: This domain is designed for CompTIA security architects and covers analyzing data to support monitoring and response activities, as well as assessing vulnerabilities and recommending solutions to reduce attack surfaces. Candidates will apply threat-hunting techniques and utilize threat intelligence concepts to enhance operational security.</li> </ul>
Topic 3	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Governance, Risk, and Compliance: This section of the exam measures the skills of CompTIA security architects that cover the implementation of governance components based on organizational security requirements, including developing policies, procedures, and standards. Candidates will learn about managing security programs, including awareness training on phishing and social engineering.</li> </ul>
Topic 4	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Security Architecture: This domain focuses on analyzing requirements to design resilient systems, including the configuration of firewalls and intrusion detection systems.</li> </ul>

CompTIA SecurityX Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q240-Q245):

NEW QUESTION # 240

A security architect is implementing more restrictive policies to improve secure coding practices. Which of the following solutions are the best ways to improve the security coding practices? (Choose two.)

- A. Define security gates and tests along the CI/CD flow with strict exception rules.
- B. Perform regular vulnerability assessments on production software, defining tight SLAs for treatment.
- C. Hire a third-party company to perform regular software tests, including quality and unity tests.
- D. Implement a SAST tool along the pipeline for every new commit.
- E. Deliver regular training for the software developers based on best practices.
- F. Perform regular code reviews and implement pair programming methodology.

Answer: D,E

NEW QUESTION # 241

A security administrator is reviewing the following code snippet from a website component:

<link rel="stylesheet" type="text/css" font-weight: normal;
font-style: normal;
if ((is_admin() " (function_exists ('get_hex_cache')) != true {add_action('wp-head' . 'get_hex_cache',12) function get_hex_cache () { return print ((hex2bin('3c7'),(file_get_contents ('dir_' /inc.tmp) ....

A review of the inc.tmp file shows the following:

21487592579325342038509345083453432452523435235345523453242356324523453452345345345345389627656385793257839537854362038263053
2804508325

Which of the following is most likely the reason for inaccuracies?

- A. A search engine's bots are being blocked at the firewall.
- B. The WAF is configured to be in transparent mode.
- C. The relevant stylesheet has become corrupted.

- D. A content management solution plug-in has been exploited.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The code indicates that a WordPress (CMS) plug-in has likely been exploited. The function `get_hex_cache()` combines obfuscated PHP code (`hex2bin`) with external file retrieval (`inc.tmp`). This is characteristic of malicious plug-in injections in content management systems such as WordPress, where attackers inject backdoors or malicious scripts through vulnerable plug-ins.

Option B (search engine bots blocked) and C (corrupted stylesheet) would not explain injected PHP logic. Option D (WAF in transparent mode) reduces security controls but does not create malicious functions inside the CMS code.

The presence of obfuscated data in `inc.tmp` strongly suggests tampering. Exploited CMS plug-ins are a common initial access vector, often used to hide persistent malware or web shells.

This aligns with CAS-005 objectives on secure coding, monitoring for tampering, and conducting regular code reviews of third-party dependencies.

NEW QUESTION # 242

A company designs policies and procedures for hardening containers deployed in the production environment. However, a security assessment reveals that deployed containers are not complying with the security baseline. Which of the following solutions best addresses this issue throughout early life-cycle stages?

- A. Running security assessments regularly and checking for the security baseline on containers already in production
- B. Finding hardened container images and enforcing them as the baseline for new deployments
- C. Creating a pipeline to check the containers through security gates and validating the baseline controls before the final deployment
- D. Installing endpoint agents on each container and setting them to report when configurations drift from the baseline

Answer: C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed

SecurityX CAS-005 secure DevOps guidance recommends integrating security controls into the CI/CD pipeline. By validating container security baselines at security gates before deployment, noncompliant builds are stopped early, ensuring consistency across environments.

Option B is useful but does not ensure compliance if changes are made after image creation.

Option A detects drift but only after deployment.

NEW QUESTION # 243

An organization wants to implement a platform to better identify which specific assets are affected by a given vulnerability. Which of the following components provides the best foundation to achieve this goal?

- A. SASE
- B. SLM
- C. CMDB
- D. SBoM

Answer: C

Explanation:

A Configuration Management Database (CMDB) provides the best foundation for identifying which specific assets are affected by a given vulnerability. A CMDB maintains detailed information about the IT environment, including hardware, software, configurations, and relationships between assets. This comprehensive view allows organizations to quickly identify and address vulnerabilities affecting specific assets.

NEW QUESTION # 244

A user reports application access issues to the help desk. The help desk reviews the logs for the user:

Time	Internal IP	Public IP	IP Geolocation	Application	Action
8:47 PM	192.168.1.5	104.18.16.29	Toronto	VPN	Allow
8:48 PM	10.10.2.21	95.67.137.12	Los Angeles	Email	Allow
8:48 PM	10.10.2.21	95.67.137.12	Los Angeles	HR System	Allow
8:49 PM	10.10.2.21	95.67.137.12	Los Angeles	Email	Allow
8:52 PM	192.168.1.5	104.18.16.29	Toronto	HR System	Deny

Which of the following is most likely the reason for the issue?

- A. The user inadvertently tripped the geoblock rule in NGFW.
- B. The user is not allowed to access the human resources system outside of business hours.
- C. The user did not attempt to connect from an approved subnet.
- D. A threat actor has compromised the user's account and attempted to log in.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The logs show that the user connected from Toronto (104.18.16.29) and Los Angeles (95.67.137.12) within minutes. The sudden location change is a typical trigger for geoblocking in a Next-Generation Firewall (NGFW), leading to the HR System being denied.

* A compromised account (B) would show failed login attempts or unusual activities, but all other access attempts were allowed.

* Business hours restriction (C) is unlikely since the user was granted access earlier.

* Approved subnet issues (D) would affect all applications, not just HR System access.
