Palo Alto Networks Cloud Security Professional Sample Questions (Q44-Q49):

NEW QUESTION # 44

The security team wants to protect a web application container from an SQLi attack. Which type of policy should the administrator create to protect the container?

- A. CNAF
- B. Runtime
- C. Compliance
- D. CNNF

Answer: A

Explanation:

To protect a web application container from an SQL Injection (SQLi) attack, the administrator should create a Cloud Native Application Firewall (CNAF) policy. CNAF policies are designed to protect applications running in containers from various types of attacks, including SQLi, by inspecting the traffic going to and from the containerized applications and blocking malicious requests.

NEW QUESTION # 45

During the Learning phase of the Container Runtime Model, Prisma Cloud enters a "dry run" period for how many hours?

- A. 0
- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3

Answer: D

Explanation:

Learning mode is the phase in which Prisma Cloud performs either static or dynamic analysis. Because the model depends on behavioral inputs, images stay in learning mode for 1 hour to complete the model. After this 1 hour, Prisma Cloud enters a 'dry run' period for 24 hours to ensure there are no behavioral changes and the model is complete. If during these 24 hours, behavioral changes are observed, the model goes back to Learning mode for an additional 24 hours.

NEW QUESTION # 46

A customer wants to monitor its Amazon Web Services (AWS) accounts via Prisma Cloud, but only needs the resource configuration to be monitored at present.

Which two pieces of information are needed to onboard this account? (Choose two.)

- A. Active Directory ID
- B. CloudTrail
- C. RoleARN
- D. External ID

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

To onboard an AWS account for monitoring by Prisma Cloud, specifically for resource configuration monitoring, the required pieces of information include:

* A. External ID: The External ID is a unique identifier used in the trust relationship between Prisma Cloud and the AWS account, ensuring secure access, making it a correct choice.

* D. RoleARN: The Role Amazon Resource Name (RoleARN) is necessary to grant Prisma Cloud the required permissions to access and monitor the AWS account resources, making it a correct choice.

Option B (CloudTrail) is related to AWS logging but is not required solely for onboarding. Option C (Active Directory ID) is not relevant to AWS account onboarding for Prisma Cloud.

NEW QUESTION # 47

An administrator has access to a Prisma Cloud Enterprise.

What are the steps to deploy a single container Defender on an ec2 node?

- A. Pull the Defender image to the ec2 node, copy and execute the curl | bash script, and start the Defender to ensure it is running.
- B. Execute the curl | bash script on the ec2 node.
- C. Configure the cloud credential in the console and allow cloud discovery to auto-protect the ec2 node.
- D. Generate DaemonSet file and apply DaemonSet to the twistlock namespace.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 48

A DevOps lead reviewed some system logs and notices some odd behavior that could be a data exfiltration attempt. The DevOps lead only has access to vulnerability data in Prisma Cloud Compute, so the DevOps lead passes this information to SecOps.

Which pages in Prisma Cloud Compute can the SecOps lead use to investigate the runtime aspects of this attack?

- A. The SecOps lead should investigate the attack using Vulnerability Explorer and Runtime Radar.
- B. The SecOps lead should review the vulnerability scans in the CI/CD process to determine blame.
- C. The SecOps lead should use Incident Explorer and Compliance Explorer.
- D. The SecOps lead should use the Incident Explorer page and Monitor > Events > Container Audits.

Answer: D

Explanation:

To investigate the runtime aspects of a potential data exfiltration attempt, the SecOps lead in Prisma Cloud Compute should focus on areas that provide insights into runtime activity and potential threats. C. The SecOps lead should use the Incident Explorer page and Monitor > Events > Container Audits. These sections provide detailed information on security incidents and container-level activities, enabling a thorough investigation into the runtime behavior that might indicate a security issue.
