Exam Topics

The PSM I certification exam covers the questions that are united in the focus areas as defined in the Professional Scrum Competencies. Each of these domains unites the specific objectives that the candidates are required to study before attempting the test. The questions that appear in the exam ask you to interpret the meaning from the Scrum Guide or explain how you would apply Scrum within a Scrum Team. The focus areas included in the Professional Scrum Master level I test are outlined below:

- Understanding and Applying the Scrum Framework

This topic encompasses a good understanding of Scrum theory, how it is founded on empirical theory, a solid knowledge of Scrum principles and values, events, roles, artifacts, scaling and the Definition of Done (DoD). Effective usage of the Scrum framework requires a comprehension of the Scrum Values as well as the tenets of Empiricism to enhance the performance of the enterprise. The Scrum framework is made up of Scrum Teams as well as their corresponding Roles, Artifacts, and Events. Each of these elements within the framework has a specific function and is essential for its successful implementation.

- Managing Products with Agility

Within this section, the practitioners should demonstrate their knowledge of product value, forecasting and release planning, product vision, product backlog management, business strategy, stakeholders and customers. The Product Vision helps align product development with the Business Strategy of an enterprise, including the strategic goals, while an emphasis on the Product Value deals with continuous improvements to the product.

- Developing People and Teams

Within this focus area, the candidates need to prove their competency in self-organizing teams, facilitation, leadership styles, coaching & mentoring. This domain contains practical approaches to personal self-development that equip an individual with the knowledge and skills needed to increase team collaboration.

The CEO asks the Development Team to add a "very important" item to a Sprint that is in progress. What should the Development Team do?

- A. Add the item to the current Sprint without any adjustments.
- B. Add the item to the next Sprint.
- C. Add the item to the current Sprint and drop an item of equal size.
- D. Inform the Product Owner so he/she can work with the CEO.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The correct answer is C, because the Development Team should inform the Product Owner so he/she can work with the CEO. The Scrum Guide states that "only the Product Owner has the authority to cancel the Sprint, although he or she may do so under influence from the stakeholders, the Development Team, or the Scrum Master." Therefore, if the CEO wants to add a "very important" item to a Sprint that is in progress, he or she should communicate with the Product Owner, who can then decide whether to cancel or continue the current Sprint.

user documentation is part of your Definition of Done. However, there are not enough technical writers for all teams. Your Scrum Team does not have a technical writer. What should the Scrum Team do?
(choose the best answer)

- A. Wait until you have a technical writer on your Scrum Team to take care of this.
- B. Form a separate team of technical writers that will work on an on-demand basis for the various Product Owners. Work order will be first in, first out.
- C. Let the user documentation remain undone and accumulate until after the last development Sprint. It will then be done by any available technical writers.
- D. The Developers on the Scrum Team should write the user documentation

Answer: D

Explanation:

According to the Scrum Guide, the Developers on the Scrum Team should write the user documentation, as they are responsible for creating a "Done" Increment that meets the Definition of Done and the Sprint Goal. The other options are not valid, as they imply that the user documentation can be deferred, ignored, or outsourced, which is not consistent with Scrum values and principles.
