Medical Professional Certified Case Manager Certification Exam (CCM) Sample Questions (Q42-Q47):

NEW QUESTION # 42

Which FIDIC Book (edition 2017) should be considered first by an Employer that is an experienced employer who knows exactly what they want from a design & engineering perspective?

- A. Yellow or Silver Book
- B. Yellow Book
- C. Red Book
- D. Silver Book

Answer: C

Explanation:

The FIDIC Red Book (2017 edition) is traditionally used for construction contracts where the Employer provides the design, and the Contractor primarily executes the construction works. This form is suitable for Employers who have detailed and well-defined design and engineering requirements and want to retain control over the design.

* The Red Book is ideal for experienced Employers who have a clear and fixed design and require the Contractor to build accordingly.

* The Yellow Book is typically used where the Contractor is responsible for both design and construction (design & build). It suits Employers who want to delegate design responsibility to the Contractor.

* The Silver Book is used for turnkey or EPC contracts where the Contractor takes full responsibility for design, procurement, construction, and commissioning, suitable for Employers seeking minimal involvement in design and execution details.

* Hence, for an Employer who knows exactly what they want from a design and engineering perspective and wants to maintain control, the Red Book is the first and most appropriate choice.

NEW QUESTION # 43

Which two statements are true under the FIDIC Red Book (edition 1999)?

(Choose all of the correct answers - multiple possibilities)

- A. The Engineer shall issue the Performance Certificate within 28 days at the latest: by the end of the Defects Notification Periods, and once the Contractor has supplied all the Contractor's Documents and completed and tested all Works including remedying any defects in accordance with the Contract.
- B. The Performance Certificate is deemed to be issued on fulfilment of certain conditions stated in the respective Sub-Clause.
- C. The Performance Certificate constitutes acceptance of the Works and full performance of all obligations of each Party.
- D. The Performance Certificate is deemed to constitute the acceptance of the Works.

Answer: A,B

Explanation:

Under the FIDIC Red Book 1999, the Performance Certificate marks the end of the Contractor's obligations under the contract (Sub-Clause 11.9). The Engineer must issue this certificate once the Defects Notification Period has ended, all Contractor's Documents are submitted, and all works including defect rectification have been completed and tested.

Option C is correct because the Engineer is required to issue the Performance Certificate within 28 days after these conditions are met.

Option D is correct as the certificate is conditional upon fulfilling specific contract requirements (e.g., completion of works, submission of documents).

Option A is incorrect because acceptance of works usually happens earlier (e.g., taking-over certificate); the Performance Certificate represents completion of all contractual obligations, not just acceptance.

Option B is incorrect as the Performance Certificate confirms contractual completion but does not necessarily imply full mutual performance beyond contract terms.

NEW QUESTION # 44

In the FIDIC Silver Book (edition 1999), if the Employer has instructed the Contractor as per Sub-Clause 8.6 to provide a revised programme to stay within Time of Completion, the Employer can claim additional costs.

This only applies if the revised programme is still too slow to complete the Works within the Time for Completion. Is this statement true or false?

- A. True
- B. False

Answer: A

Explanation:

This statement is true. Under FIDIC Silver Book 1999, Sub-Clause 8.6, the Employer can instruct the Contractor to submit a revised programme to meet the contractual Time for Completion. If, after such instruction, the revised programme still shows the Works will not complete on time, the Employer may claim additional costs (such as delay damages or compensation) due to continued delay.

Thus, the Employer's right to claim additional costs is contingent on the revised programme not enabling timely completion.

NEW QUESTION # 45

Which one of the following is not a required document to be submitted by the Contractor if the Employer requests a proposal, prior to instructing a Variation, for FIDIC 2017 Yellow Book?

- A. A Programme for execution of the varied work.
- B. Details of the resources and methods to be adopted by the Contractor.
- C. A description of the proposed design.
- D. A description of the varied work.

Answer: C

Explanation:

When the Employer requests a proposal prior to instructing a Variation, the Contractor is typically required to submit:

A description of the varied work (Option A).

Details of resources and methods for carrying out the Variation (Option C).

A Programme showing how the Variation will be executed (Option D).

A description of the proposed design (Option B) is not always required as part of the Variation proposal, especially if the Variation is limited to changes in execution rather than design.

NEW QUESTION # 46

Under FIDIC Red and Yellow Books (edition 2017), which two of the following elements shall form part of the revised programme?

Choose all of the correct answers (multiple possibilities)

- A. The actual progress to date, any delay to such progress and the effects of such delay on other activities (if any).
- B. Only the delivery dates of Plant and Materials which have not been delivered on Site yet.
- C. The sequence and timing of the remedial work.
- D. All internationally recognized holiday periods.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

Under Sub-Clause 8.3 of the FIDIC Red and Yellow Books 2017, the revised programme must reflect:

The planned sequence and timing of works including recognized holidays (Option A) to ensure realistic scheduling.

The actual progress to date, delays, and impacts on subsequent activities (Option B) so that stakeholders can manage resources and risks effectively.

Option C (remedial work) is typically not part of the main programme but may be in a separate defect rectification schedule.

Option D is too narrow; the programme should include all activities, not only undelivered materials.
