Antwort: A

213. Frage

What is the difference between an organization's mission and vision?

- A. The mission is an objective that states who the organization serves, what it does, and what it hopes to achieve, while the vision is an aspirational objective that states what the organization aspires to be and why it matters.
- B. The mission is a short-term goal or set of goals, while the vision is a long-term goal or set of goals.
- C. The mission is focused on external stakeholders, while the vision is focused on internal stakeholders.
- D. The mission is a financial target, while the vision is a non-financial target.

Antwort: A

Begründung:

Mission and vision serve distinct roles in defining an organization's purpose and aspirations.

* Mission:

* Defines the organization's purpose, target audience, and core activities.

* Answers: "Who are we, what do we do, and why do we exist?"

* Example: "To deliver affordable healthcare services to underserved communities."

* Vision:

* Articulates an aspirational future state and the broader impact the organization seeks to achieve.

* Answers: "What do we aspire to become and why does it matter?"

* Example: "To be the global leader in innovative and inclusive healthcare solutions."

* Why Other Options Are Incorrect:

* A: Both mission and vision extend beyond financial targets.

* C: Mission and vision are not distinguished solely by timeframe.

* D: Both mission and vision address internal and external stakeholders.

References:

- * Corporate Strategy Frameworks: Discusses mission and vision as complementary elements of strategic planning.
- * Balanced Scorecard: Highlights mission and vision alignment in organizational strategy.

214. Frage

How does the GRC Capability Model define the term "enterprise"?

- A. The enterprise is the most superior unit that encompasses the entirety of the organization.
- B. The enterprise refers to the organization's sales and distribution channels.
- C. The enterprise refers to a starship that boldly goes where no man has gone before.
- D. The enterprise refers to the organization's information technology infrastructure and systems.

Antwort: A

Begründung:

In the GRC Capability Model, the term "enterprise" refers to the highest-level organizational unit that includes all its divisions, functions, and activities.

Definition:

The enterprise is the broadest scope of the organization, encompassing strategic, operational, and compliance-related efforts.

Significance in GRC:

The enterprise context ensures that governance, risk management, and compliance activities are aligned with the organization's overall objectives and values.

Why Other Options Are Incorrect:

B: Sales and distribution channels are specific operational aspects, not the entire enterprise.

C: IT infrastructure is one part of the organization, not the whole.

D: A humorous reference unrelated to the GRC framework.

Reference:

OCEG GRC Capability Model: Defines "enterprise" as the comprehensive organizational context for GRC integration.

COSO ERM Framework: Uses enterprise-level focus to align risk and governance activities.
