Google Cloud Digital Leader Sample Questions (Q24-Q29):

NEW QUESTION # 24

A financial services company is running an experimental application workload that has a very large number of mathematical calculations involving floating-point numbers. The current application that is running on compute engine is not providing enough speed and throughput. What are the options to increase the processing performance?

- A. Instead of using a "general purpose" machine family, use "compute-optimized" machine family.
- B. Use a serverless option like Cloud Functions that will automatically scale as much as required.
- C. Since processing could also be dependent on reading and writing data to the disk, use a fast Local SSD.
- D. Attach GPUs to the virtual machine for number crunching.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Compute Engine provides graphics processing units (GPUs) that you can add to your virtual machines (VMs).

You can use these GPUs to accelerate specific workloads on your VMs such as machine learning and data processing.

NEW QUESTION # 26

Which of the following methods should you use when you require a dynamic way of provisioning VMs on Compute Engine when it is observed that the exact specifications will be in a dedicated configuration file and you want to follow Google's recommended practices.

- A. Deployment Manager
- B. Unmanaged Instance Group
- C. Managed Instance Group
- D. Cloud Composer

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

The question is about a dynamic way to provision VM, it can be achieved by a Deployment manager or by using terraform. MIG is creating multiple machines based on templates by load balancing

NEW QUESTION # 27

You want to build an application that will allow customers to register and login. It would be great to have the ability to secure it with multi-factor authentication and the ability to reset credentials. As a small startup, you want to build the main application as quickly as possible and have minimum overhead. Which might be a suitable option for you on Google Cloud?

- A. Cloud Identity Platform
- B. Since identity and credentials should be secure and private, do not trust other service providers.
- C. Google Workspace
- D. Cloud Identity

Answer: A

Explanation:

Cloud Identity Platform

Cloud Identity Platform allows you to manage identity and credentials for your consumer-facing applications.

So that's the right one in this case to use. "Identity Platform is a customer identity and access management (CIAM) platform that helps organizations add identity and access management functionality to their applications, protect user accounts, and scale with confidence on Google Cloud." ### NEW QUESTION # 28

You have contracted a partner to conduct some medical trials. This is a limited, 2-month contract. At the end of each day, you are expecting about 10 Gbs of data. The data is highly sensitive. What networking option would you employ?

- A. Setup Cloud VPN and create an IPsec VPN tunnel with your partner.
- B. Create a public IP for a VM and share that with your partners so that they can access it over the internet and share the data.
- C. As the name indicates, set up Partner Interconnect with your partner company.
- D. Setup Dedicated Interconnect with your partner.

Answer: A

Explanation:

"Cloud VPN securely extends your peer network to Google's network through an IPsec VPN tunnel. Traffic is encrypted and travels between the two networks over the public internet. Cloud VPN is useful for low-volume data connections. For additional connection options, see the Hybrid Connectivity product page."
