- C. Define data quality rules.
- D. Assess completeness of the data inventory.

Answer: D

Explanation:
Explanation

The first step when performing a data quality assessment is to assess the completeness of the data inventory, which is a comprehensive list of all data assets within the organization. This will help identify the scope, sources, owners, and characteristics of the data to be assessed. The other options are possible actions that may be taken after the data inventory is complete, depending on the objectives and criteria of the assessment.

NEW QUESTION # 194

Which of the following is the GREATEST privacy risk associated with the use of application programming interfaces (APIs)?

- A. API keys could be stored insecurely.
- B. APIs are complex to build and test
- C. APIs are costly to assess and monitor.
- D. APIS could create an unstable environment

Answer: A

Explanation:

API keys are codes that are used to identify and authenticate an application or user when accessing an API. API keys could be stored insecurely, such as in plain text, in public repositories, or in unencrypted files. This could expose the API keys to unauthorized access, theft, or misuse by malicious actors, who could then access the API and the data it contains. This could result in data breaches, privacy violations, fraud, or other damages.

NEW QUESTION # 195

Which of the following is the BEST way for an organization to limit potential data exposure when implementing a new application?

- A. Capture the application's authentication logs.
- B. Use only the data required by the application.
- C. Implement a data loss prevention (DLP) system.
- D. Encrypt all data used by the application.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The principle of data minimization states that personal data should be adequate, relevant and limited to what is necessary in relation to the purposes for which they are processed. By using only the data required by the application, the organization can reduce the amount of data that is collected, stored, processed and potentially exposed. This can also help the organization comply with privacy laws and regulations that require data minimization, such as the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and the California Consumer Privacy Act (CCPA).

NEW QUESTION # 197

Which of the following is the BEST approach to minimize privacy risk when collecting personal data?

- A. Collect only the data necessary to meet objectives.
- B. Collect data through a secure organizational web server.
- C. Use a third party to collect, store, and process the data.
- D. Aggregate the data immediately upon collection.

Answer: A

Explanation:
