NEW QUESTION # 218

Sylvia decided to use the savings from her bank account to purchase a 5-year bond. The face value of the bond is $10,000, the market price is $9,230 and the coupon rate is 7%.

What is the current yield on the bond? Round to 2 decimal places.

- A. 7.75%
- B. 7.58%
- C. 7.00%
- D. 7.25%

Answer: B

Explanation:

The current yield on a bond is the annual interest payment divided by the current market price of the bond. In this case, the annual interest payment is 7% of the face value, which is $700. The current market price of the bond is $9,230. Therefore, the current yield is:

$$9230700 \times 100\% = 7.58\%$$

The current yield is different from the coupon rate, which is the annual interest payment divided by the face value of the bond. The coupon rate does not change over the life of the bond, but the current yield changes as the market price of the bond fluctuates. References:

NEW QUESTION # 219

Your client's unused RRSP contribution room is $46,000. He contributes $15,000 in the current taxation year.
How much RRSP contribution room can he carry forward?

- A. $31,000
- B. $35,000
- C. $46,000
- D. $38,000

Answer: A

Explanation:

Unused RRSP contribution room can be carried forward indefinitely. The carry-forward amount is the unused room minus the current year's contribution:  $$46,000 - $15,000 = $31,000$ . The feedback from the document states:

"Any RRSP contribution room that is not used in a taxation year can be carried forward to be used in future years. There is no limit on the amount that can be carried forward. In this example,  $$46,000 - $15,000 = $31,000$ ."

Global equity funds can act as a hedge against a decline in the Canadian dollar's value, increasing the investment's value in Canadian dollars if the foreign currency strengthens. The feedback from the document states:

"Global mutual funds are attractive because they can provide a hedge against a decline in the relative value of the Canadian dollar.

For example: if investors buy a Japanese fund, and then the value of the Canadian dollar falls relative to the yen, the Canadian dollar value of that investment will increase even if the value of the fund's units in yen has remained unchanged."
