Huawei HCIA-Cloud Computing V5.5 Sample Questions (Q25-Q30):

NEW QUESTION # 25

Which of the following statements is false about virtual NICs?

- A. Each virtual NIC has its own IP address.
- B. In terms of network, a virtual NIC has the same functions as a physical NIC.
- C. A VM can have only one virtual NIC.
- D. Each virtual NIC has its own MAC address.

Answer: C

Explanation:

In the official Huawei HCIA-Cloud Computing curriculum, specifically the "Virtualization Basics" module, the characteristics of virtualized hardware are clearly defined. Statement D is FALSE because a Virtual Machine (VM) is not limited to a single virtual network interface card (vNIC). In fact, for many enterprise scenarios, a VM must have multiple vNICs. For example, a VM acting as a software firewall or a multi-homed server would require separate vNICs to connect to different logical networks (such as a Management network, a Service network, and a Backup network). Huawei FusionCompute supports the addition of multiple vNICs to a single VM, each capable of being assigned to a different port group or VLAN.

The other statements are correct based on Huawei's technical standards. Statement A is true; every vNIC is assigned a globally unique MAC address (usually from a prefix reserved for Huawei virtualization) to ensure that Layer 2 switching functions correctly within the DVS. Statement B is true; just like a physical machine, each vNIC can be assigned a unique IP address through static configuration or DHCP to allow for Layer 3 communication. Statement C is also accurate; from the perspective of the Guest Operating System, the vNIC behaves exactly like a physical PCI-E network card. It has a driver, it can be configured with MTU settings, and it can transmit and receive frames. The hypervisor (CNA) is responsible for intercepting the data from this "logical" NIC and forwarding it through the physical NICs of the host server. This transparent emulation is what allows standard operating systems and applications to run in the cloud without modification.

NEW QUESTION # 26

Which item is wrong with the description of FusionCompute distributed virtual machine switch port group?

- A. A distributed switch can only create one port group in each computing node
- B. Port groups are a mechanism for setting policies that are used to manage networks connected to port groups
- C. Port group supports special configuration of IP and MAC binding to improve security
- D. Virtual machine NICs connected to the same port group have the same network attributes

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 27

In Huawei Fusion Computer, the Tools installed for the virtual machine have nothing to do with the type and version of the operating system used by the virtual machine.

- A. False
- B. True

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 28

() technology refers to the condition that the physical memory of the server is fixed, through certain technical means, the total memory of the virtual machine is greater than the total physical memory of the server, and the density of the virtual machine on the physical server is increased.

Answer:

Explanation:
memory multiplexing

NEW QUESTION # 29

Among the following descriptions, which one conforms to the characteristics of virtualization encapsulation? (Multiple choice)

- A. If a virtual machine has multiple hard disks, each hard disk will generate a corresponding disk file
- B. The configuration file of the virtual machine will contain information such as CPU type and quantity
- C. A virtual machine can be migrated from one physical host to another
- D. Multiple virtual machines can run on one physical host at the same time

Answer: A,B
