Microsoft Dynamics 365 Business Central Developer Sample Questions (Q116-Q121):

NEW QUESTION # 116
A company has an on-premises Business Central instance named TEST The instance uses Windows authorization and a developer services port of 7149 Visual Studio Code is installed on the same server.
You create a new AL project but cannot download the symbols.
The launch json file contains the following code:

You need to download the symbols.
Which two actions should you perform? Each correct answer presents part of the solution.
NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

- A. Add the port: 7149 parameter.
- B. Change the name parameter to TEST.

- C. Change the authentication parameter to UserPassword.
- D. Check which server the instance is installed on and replace http//localhost with the correct IP address.
- E. Change the server Instance parameter to TEST

Answer: A,E

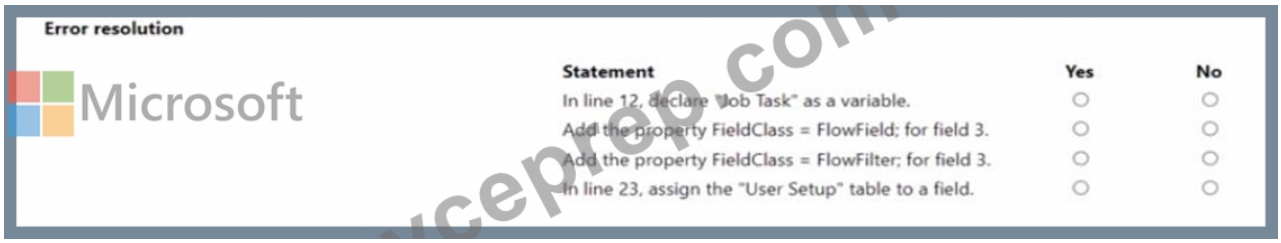

Explanation:
You are working on an on-premises Business Central instance and unable to download symbols for a new AL project. The current configuration in launch.json does not allow you to download symbols, and you need to make corrections.
Key Points in the Scenario:
* Instance name is TEST.
* Developer services port is 7149.
* Windows authentication is being used.
Correct Answers:
* A. Change the server Instance parameter to TEST.
* The serverInstance parameter must match the name of the Business Central instance, which is TEST in this scenario. You need to modify this to reflect the correct instance name.
* B. Add the port: 7149 parameter.
* Since the developer services are using port 7149, you need to specify this in the launch.json file by adding the port parameter with the value 7149.
Incorrect Options:
* C. Change the name parameter to TEST: The name parameter is just a label and does not affect downloading symbols, so changing this won't help.
* D. Change the authentication parameter to UserPassword: The authentication method is already set to Windows, which is valid for this scenario. Changing it to UserPassword is unnecessary unless specified by the system.
* E. Check which server the instance is installed on and replace http://localhost with the correct IP address: Since the server is on the same machine as Visual Studio Code (as specified), localhost is correct.
