How to Earn PCNSA Certification?

To earn the Palo Alto Networks Certified Network Security Administrator, the students are required to pass a qualifying exam known as the PCNSA. This formal exam targeting the intermediate-level PCNSA certification can be taken by anyone who has already taken EDU-110 or EDU-210 courses and who wants to become a security administrator dealing with Palo Alto Network security features. This test is based on the latest release of the PAN-OS. Before taking the PCNSA exam, it is recommended that the learners have between two and three years of experience in the networking or security domain or six months of full-time work experience in the Palo Alto Networks Security Operating Platform.

The PCNSA Certification Exam is an excellent opportunity for network security professionals to demonstrate their expertise in managing and maintaining Palo Alto Networks firewalls. Palo Alto Networks Certified Network Security Administrator certification program is respected globally and is highly valued within the network security industry. By passing the PCNSA certification exam, professionals can open up new career opportunities and advance their careers in network security.
