問題 #34

When preparing to carry out a Business Impact Assessment (BIA), the Business Continuity professional should:

- A. Consider the potential recovery strategies and solutions that may be implemented
- B. Consult with personnel to determine preferred ways of working in different departments
- C. Ensure that the process includes an external communications procedure
- D. Review all relevant organization documents to help assess the appropriate parameters and factors to be applied during the process

解題說明：

The CBCI 7.0 course advises that before conducting a BIA, the Business Continuity professional should review organizational documents such as strategic plans, operational procedures, and risk registers to understand the context and determine appropriate parameters like impact categories and assessment criteria.

This preparation ensures that the BIA is aligned with organizational objectives and risks, enhancing the accuracy and relevance of findings. While consulting personnel, considering recovery strategies, and communication procedures are important, these typically occur later in the BCMS lifecycle. Proper groundwork through document review is essential for a focused and effective BIA process.

問題 #35

Establishing governance arrangements for a Business Continuity Management System (BCMS) is essential in order to:

- A. Ensure that there is ongoing commitment across all organizational functions and levels
- B. Develop a project risk register and carry out appropriate risk assessments in the workplace
- C. Enable the Business Continuity professional to establish their authority and issue instructions on the actions that need to be taken
- D. Commission research into approaches taken by organizations

答案： A

解題說明：

The CBCI 7.0 course stresses that governance arrangements are key to securing ongoing commitment and support across all levels and functions within an organization. Effective governance structures facilitate leadership involvement, resource allocation, decision-making, and accountability, which are crucial for embedding Business Continuity. While project risk registers and research are valuable tools, and authority is necessary, governance's primary function is to maintain organization-wide engagement and alignment, ensuring the BCMS is sustained and evolves with business needs.

問題 #36

The scope of the Business Continuity Management System (BCMS) should be reviewed if:

- A. Personnel are not embracing Business Continuity and a new approach to engage them is required
- B. A new Business Continuity professional is appointed and they provide a fresh focus on the approach to be taken
- C. There is a change to the internal or external operating context
- D. An exercise activity reveals that changes to operational procedures are needed

答案： C

解題說明：

The CBCI 7.0 course defines that the BCMS scope must be regularly reviewed and updated in response to significant changes in the organization's internal or external context. Such changes could include shifts in business operations, legal requirements, market conditions, or organizational structure that affect Business Continuity requirements. This ensures that the BCMS remains relevant and effective. While fresh perspectives and personnel engagement are important, scope reviews are driven by contextual changes.

問題 #37

Which of the following could the Business Continuity professional use to explain how embracing Business Continuity could add value to the organization?

- A. It increases competitive advantage by increasing the ability of the organization to remain operational in the face of a disruption
- B. It will enable senior managers to delegate their responsibilities to team members as personnel will be willing to take on additional accountabilities leaving senior managers free to develop new products and services
- C. It will increase health and safety standards in the organization by reducing stress levels as personnel do not need to be concerned during disruptions
- D. It will resolve all conflicts between personnel and departments in the organization as personnel will re-focus their priorities to shared Business Continuity activities

答案： A

解題說明：

The CBCI 7.0 course stresses that embracing Business Continuity adds value primarily by enhancing organizational resilience, which translates into a competitive advantage. Being able to maintain operations during disruptions preserves customer confidence, safeguards revenue, and protects reputation. While improved health and safety and conflict resolution are indirect benefits, they are not the primary value drivers.

Delegating responsibilities effectively supports continuity but does not capture the strategic benefit.

Communicating resilience as a competitive edge helps secure leadership buy-in and resource allocation for continuity initiatives.

問題 #38

When carrying out the Business Impact Analysis (BIA) process, the Business Continuity professional should use a consistent approach to determine priorities of products, services, and activities. Which of the following is a method that could be used?

- A. A standardized risk rating table
- B. Pre-defined impact thresholds
- C. A risk assessment matrix
- D. A gap analysis

答案：B

解題說明：

The CBCI 7.0 course details that using pre-defined impact thresholds is an effective and consistent method for prioritizing products, services, and activities during a BIA. These thresholds establish clear criteria for impact levels across various categories, such as financial loss, reputational damage, and regulatory consequences. By applying standardized thresholds, organizations can objectively assess and compare the criticality of different business functions, ensuring that prioritization aligns with organizational risk appetite and strategic objectives. This approach promotes consistency, transparency, and repeatability in BIA processes. While risk matrices and gap analyses are useful tools in risk management, pre-defined impact thresholds directly guide priority-setting within BIAs.
