- A. Privacy is a subset of data protection.
- B. The terms 'privacy' and 'data protection' are interchangeable.
- C. They are unrelated.
- D. Data protection is a subset of privacy.

Answer: D

Explanation:
According to DSCI Privacy Framework and aligned literature, data protection primarily deals with the operational and technical safeguards to ensure the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of personal data.
Privacy is a broader concept encompassing the right of individuals to control their personal information, including legal, social, and ethical dimensions.
Thus, data protection is considered a subset or enabler of the broader right to privacy, supporting its implementation by managing risks related to data handling and security.
