Cisco Implementing Cisco Enterprise Wireless Networks Sample Questions (Q92-Q97):

NEW QUESTION # 92

Refer to the exhibit.

An engineer needs to configure location services in an office. The requirement is to use FastLocate and achieve higher locations refresh rates. Which location-based technique should be implemented?

- A. location patterning
- B. angulation
- C. probe-based
- D. data packet-based

Answer: C

Explanation:

FastLocate technology enhances location updates' frequency by utilizing probe requests from clients for real-time location tracking. This method increases the refresh rate of client locations significantly compared to other methods that rely on data packets or RSSI measurements of associated clients only. By implementing a probe-based technique, an engineer can achieve higher location refresh rates as required for location services in an office environment.
