Adobe Experience Manager DevOps Engineer Expert Sample Questions (Q36-Q41):

NEW QUESTION # 36

A DevOps engineer needs to delete an SSL certificate from Cloud Manager. What should the DevOps engineer do?

- A. Remove all domain names associated with the SSL certificate, then delete the certificate.
- B. Archive the SSL certificate instead of deleting it.
- C. Open a support ticket via the Admin Console to have the SSL certificate removed from Cloud Manager.
- D. Disable the SSL certificate via the Cloud Manager UI, then delete the certificate.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 37

During security tests, it becomes apparent that AEM-specific paths were accessible on the publish instance. These paths should not be accessible to the public.

Which configuration should be used on a publish dispatcher instance?

- A. `/0001 { /type "deny" /glob "/system/*" }`
- B. `/0001 { /type "deny" /glob "*" }`
- C. `/0001 { /type "deny" /url "/crx/*" }`
- D. `/0001 { /type "deny" /url "/system/*" }`

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 38

A DevOps engineer needs to add functionality to allow developers to start Cloud Manager builds from their local environments via a bash script or IDE plugin.

What should the DevOps engineer add after creating an Adobe I/O project?

- A. An API for Cloud Manager
- B. Create a webhook for Cloud Manager builds
- C. A plugin for Cloud Manager
- D. An Event for Cloud Manager

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 39

An AEM instance is updating and replicating pages at a very high rate. Monitoring alerts indicate a high number of requests to the publish instances. How can the DevOps engineer throttle the number of cache invalidations?

- A. Configure the connect Timeout property in the flush agent
- B. Configure the Retry Delay property in the flush agent
- C. Use the `/invalidateHandler` setting in the dispatcher configuration
- D. Use the `/graceperiod` setting in the dispatcher configuration

Answer: D

Explanation:

In the AEM Dispatcher farm configuration, high-frequency replication events can cause "cache stampedes" where the cache is constantly invalidated, forcing all traffic back to the publish instances simultaneously and spiking CPU. The `/graceperiod` property mitigates this. When set, it defines a window of time (e.g., 2 seconds) during which the Dispatcher will continue to serve "stale" (recently invalidated) cached content to end-users while a single request is sent to the publish tier to fetch the new content. Once fetched, the cache is updated.

This effectively throttles invalidation spikes and protects the publish instances from traffic overloads.

NEW QUESTION # 40

A DevOps engineer wants to migrate a project code base into Cloud Manager. Which two actions must the DevOps engineer take to make sure the migration is successful? (Choose two.)

- A. Build and deploy the source code repository to a local environment using the latest version of the SDK.
- B. Run the source code through a local static code quality checker and analyze the report to identify any potential issues.
- C. Review the source code and make sure it meets the required standards and that all the classes have unit tests.
- D. Run the Dispatcher validator to make sure there are no errors in the Dispatcher configuration.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

When migrating an existing AEM code base to AEM as a Cloud Service (AEMaaS), the structure and rules are strictly enforced by the Cloud Manager pipeline. Before pushing code, a DevOps engineer must validate the code locally against the AEM as a Cloud Service SDK to ensure OSGi bundles resolve and mutable

`/immutable` content separations are respected (Option B). Additionally, the Dispatcher configuration has migrated from an Apachebased structure to a strict AEMaaCS format. Running the local Dispatcher Validator CLI tool (Option C) is mandatory to ensure there are no syntax or structural errors in the dispatcher configurations, which would otherwise immediately fail the Cloud Manager build pipeline.
