The EU-Iran Instrument in Support of Trade Exchange (INSTEX), which allowed EU purchases of Iranian oil after 2018, is an example of:

- A. a blocking statute.
- B. a special purpose vehicle.
- C. a general license.
- D. sanctions evasion.

Answer: B

Explanation:

INSTEX was established by EU member states as an operational mechanism designed to facilitate limited and compliant trade with Iran after the re-imposition of U.S. secondary sanctions in 2018. According to the Sanctions and Compliance Domains, INSTEX is categorized as a special purpose vehicle, created specifically to permit trade transactions without reliance on traditional cross-border payment routes exposed to U.S. sanctions risk.

Special purpose vehicles are defined within sanctions frameworks as structured entities created to conduct or support specific categories of trade or payments where direct financial transfers are restricted or exposed to sanctions risk. INSTEX was designed to match European exporters and importers with Iranian counterparts through a barter-style internal clearing arrangement, avoiding external USD payment flows.

It is not a general license, nor is it a blocking statute. It also does not constitute sanctions evasion because it was formally established, publicly announced, and structured within EU legal parameters. Its purpose was to ensure compliance while maintaining limited humanitarian and permitted trade channels.

Reference from Sanctions and Compliance Domains:

Definitions and characteristics of special purpose vehicles in sanctions environments.

Description of EU mechanisms facilitating compliant trade with sanctioned jurisdictions.

Distinction between SPVs, blocking statutes, and licensing frameworks.

Regulatory context regarding INSTEX as an EU-created structured trade mechanism.
